PREFATORY NOTE.

It has been found necessary for this year to issue a much shortened edition of the Society's Year-Book. All the matter in the previous editions relating to the Society's old house at Savile Row, would be inappropriate now that we have entered on possession of our new premises at Kensington Gore. Matters are not so far advanced as to admit of a detailed statement of the arrangement of the various departments in the new house, nor has it been possible as yet to prepare a series of illustrations of its outer aspects or internal features.

Before the end of the year it is hoped that all the new arrangements will be in thorough working order. It will then be possible to issue an edition of the Year-Book in 1914 which will contain a full account of the distribution of the various departments, and of the additional accommodation available for Fellows, as well as many novel features, constituting it a complete and up-to-date record of the work and activities of the Society.

FOUNDATION OF THE SOCIETY.

THE Royal Geographical Society was founded in 1830. Previously, and since the dawn of British exploration and discovery; geographical work had been done without regular organization. It was commenced in 1555, when Richard Eden published his "Decades of the New World." It was continued by a succession of collectors of Voyages and Travels—Hakluyt, Purchas, Harris, Astley, Churchill, Pinkerton, Dalrymple, Kerr, and Burney. The Royal Society, from its foundation, published occasional geographical papers, and promoted the invention and improvement of instruments useful to travellers. Sir Joseph Banks was the constant and very active patron of geography from the time that he became President of the Royal Society in 1778 until his death in 1820. His mantle fell upon Major Rennell, while from 1818 Sir John Barrow, the Secretary to the Admiralty, was the great promoter of voyages of discovery. In 1788 the African Association was founded for the promotion of discovery in the interior of that continent, and the labours of its members culminated in the discoveries of Mungo Park, of Denham and Clapperton, and of Lander.

The Raleigh Dining Club was founded in February, 1827. The world was mapped out into so many divisions corresponding with the number of members, each division being represented by at least one member, so that the Club collectively should have visited nearly every part of the known world. The principal object of the Club dinners, which took place at the "Thatched House," was announced to be the attainment of an agreeable and rational society composed of persons who had visited all parts of the globe. At the dinners the feeling that the creation of a more completely organized institution for the advancement of geography was necessary, gradually took definite shape. After the foundation of the Society the Raleigh Club continued to flourish, becoming more and more closely connected with the Society, until, in 1854, the affiliation became complete. With new rules the name of Raleigh was then dropped, and it became the Geographical Club, whose history has since been part of the history of the Society.

Early in 1830 Admiral Smyth sketched out a well-conceived scheme for a Geographical Society, and enrolled many names. Independently of his efforts, there was subsequently a numerously attended meeting of the Raleigh Club, with Sir John Barrow in the chair, on May 24th, 1830, when it was resolved that a Society was needed whose sole object should be the promotion and diffusion of geographical knowledge. The meeting nominated a provisional committee consisting of six members of the Raleigh Club, Sir John Barrow, Mr. Robert Brown (Princeps Botanicorum), Sir John Hobhouse (afterwards Lord Broughton), Sir Roderick Murchison, Mr. Mountstuart Elphinstone, and Mr. Bartle Frere. The meetings of this Committee took place in Sir John Barrow's room at the Admiralty. They there settled the preliminary business, and drew up rules. Admiral Smyth's zealous exertions, commenced at an earlier date, were now heartily given to the Committee. He materially furthered the successful progress of its efforts.

On July 16th, 1830, at a meeting in the rooms of the Horticultural Society in Regent Street, resolutions were adopted relating to the government and constitution of the Society, and the Geographical Society of London was founded. President, Vice-Presidents, Council, Treasurer, and Secretaries were elected.

Our first President was Viscount Goderich, afterwards Earl of Ripon. The Vice-Presidents were Sir John Barrow, Sir John Franklin, Colonel Leake, and Mr. Greenough. Four hundred and sixty names were enrolled on the list of Fellows, forty-three being naval officers, including the King, fifty officers in the army, all the leading statesmen of both parties, including the Duke of Wellington (then Prime Minister), and men eminent in all branches of science. King William IV. became patron of the Society, granted an annual donation of fifty guineas (which has been graciously continued by his present Majesty) to constitute a premium for the encouragement and promotion of geographical science and discovery, and ordered that our title should be the "Royal Geographical Society."

The African and Palestine Associations were merged in the Society.

The objects of the Royal Geographical Society are the accumulation of new geographical knowledge, the maintenance of a library and a collection of maps for the use of its members, granting assistance to travellers and to research, the training of explorers, the raising of the standard of geographical education, and the dissemination of geographical knowledge. It has actively and successfully pursued these objects during the last eighty-three years.

The Society's Royal Charter of Incorporation was granted to Sir Roderick Murchison on the 8th of February, 1859.

The following table shows the progress of the Society, so far as the number of Fellows is concerned :—

CHARTER AND BYE-LAWS.

THE ROYAL CHARTER OF INCORPORATION TO THE ROYAL GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY, 1859.

Victoria, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith, To all to whom these presents shall come, Greeting.

WHEREAS Sir Roderick Impey Murchison, Knight, and others of our loving subjects did, in the year one thousand eight hundred and thirty, establish a Society, by the name of The Royal Geographical Society, for the advancement of Geographical Science, and of which Society we have become the Patron :

AND WHEREAS it has been represented to us that the same Society has since its establishment sedulously pursued such its proposed object, by collecting, registering, digesting, and, from time to time, publishing an annual Journal of Transactions, which have contributed to the progress of geographical knowledge; by carrying out, at its own expense, various important Expeditions in every quarter of the Globe, and by assisting other Expeditions with grants of money and otherwise; and whereas, distinguished individuals in foreign countries, as well as British subjects, have availed themselves of the facilities offered by the same Society for communicating important discoveries, greatly extending geographical knowledge:

AND WHEREAS the same Society has, in aid of its objects, collected a large and valuable Library of Scientific Works, Atlases, Maps, Charts, Plans, Views, and Instruments, to which fresh accessions are constantly being made; and the said Society has hitherto been supported by Donations, and annual and other Subscriptions and Contributions to its Funds:

AND WHEREAS, in order to secure the property of the said Society, to extend its operations, and to give it a more permanent establishment among the scientific Institutions of our Kingdom, we have been besought to grant to the said Sir Roderick Impey Murchison, Knight, and to those who now are, or shall hereafter become, Members of the said Society, our Royal Charter of Incorporation for the purposes aforesaid.

NOW KNOW YE, that We, being desirous of encouraging a design so laudable and salutary, of our especial Grace, certain knowledge, and mere motion, have willed, granted and declared, and Do, by these Presents for us, our heirs, and successors, will, grant and declare, that the said Sir Roderick Impey Murchison, Knight, and such other of our loving subjects as now are Members of the said Society, or shall from time to time be elected Fellows thereof, according to such Regulations, or Bye Laws, as shall be hereafter framed or enacted, and their successors, shall for ever hereafter be, by virtue of these Presents, one body politic and corporate, by the name of "The Royal Geographical Society;" and for the purposes aforesaid, and by the name aforesaid, shall have perpetual succession and a Common Seal, with full power and authority to alter, vary, break, and renew the same at their discretion, and by the same name, to sue and be sued, implead and be impleaded, answer and be answered unto, in every court of us, our heirs and successors, and be for ever able and capable in the law, to purchase, receive, possess, hold and enjoy, to them and their successors, any goods and chattels whatsoever; and also to be able and capable in the law (notwithstanding the Statutes of Mortmain), to take, purchase, hold and enjoy, to them and their successors, a Hall or House, and any such messuages, lands, tenements, or hereditaments whatsoever, as may be necessary for carrying out the purposes of the Society, the yearly value of which, including the site of the said Hall or House, shall not exceed in the whole the sum of eight thousand pounds, computing the same respectively at the rack rent which might have been had or gotten for the same respectively at the time of the purchase or acquisition thereof; and to act in all the concerns of the said body politic and corporate, as effectually, to all intents and purposes, as any other of our liege subjects, or any other body politic or corporate, in our said Kingdom, not being under any disability, might do in their respective concerns.

AND we do hereby grant our especial licence and authority, unto all and every person and persons, bodies politic and corporate, otherwise competent to grant, sell, alien, and convey in Mortmain, unto and to the use of the said body politic and corporate, and their successors, any messuages, lands, tenements, or hereditaments, not exceeding such annual value as aforesaid.

AND our will and pleasure is, and we further grant and declare, that there shall be a General Meeting, or General Meetings of the Fellows of the said Society, to be held from time to time as hereinafter mentioned; and that there shall be a Council to direct and manage the concerns of the said body politic and corporate, and that the General Meetings and the Council shall have the entire direction and management of the same, in the manner and subject to the regulations hereafter mentioned.

AND we do hereby also will, grant and declare, that there shall be a President, Vice-Presidents, a Treasurer, and Secretaries of the said body politic and corporate; and that the Council shall consist of the President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, Trustees, Secre'aries, and not more than twenty-one, nor less than twelve, other Fellows of the said Society.

AND we do hereby further will and declare, that the said Sir Roderick Impey Murchison, Knight, shall be the first President of the said body politic and corporate; and the other persons now being the Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, Trustees, Secretaries, together with twenty-one Members of the Council, shall be the first Members of the Council, and shall continue such until the election of Officers shall be made in pursuance of these presents.

AND we do hereby further will and declare, that it shall be lawful for the Fellows of the said body politic and corporate hereby established, to hold a General Meeting once in the year, or oftener, for the purposes hereinafter mentioned, namely, that the President, Vice-Presidents, the Treasurer, the Secretaries, and other members of the Council, shall be chosen at such General Meeting, and that the General Meetings shall from time to time make and establish such Bye Laws, and vary and alter, or revoke the same, as they shall deem to be useful and necessary for the regulation of the said body politic and corporate, for the admission of Fellows and of Honorary and Foreign Members, and for the fixing the number of the Presidents, Officers, and for the management of the proceedings, and the estates, goods, and business of the said body politic and corporate, so that such Bye Laws be not repugnant to these presents, or to the Laws and Statutes of this our realm, and shall and may also enter into any resolution and make any regulation respecting the affairs of the said body politic and corporate that may be necessary and proper.

AND we do further will and declare that the General Meetings shall take place at such time as may be fixed by the said Council, and that the present regulations of the said Society, so far as they are not inconsistent with these presents, shall continue in force until the same shall be altered by a General Meeting.

AND we further will, grant and declare, that the Council shall have the sole management of the income and funds of the said body politic and corporate, and the appointment of Secretary, Librarian, Curator, and such other officers, attendants, and servants, as the Council shall think necessary or useful, as also the entire management and superintendence of all the other affairs of the said Society, and shall and may, but not inconsistently with or contrary to the provisions of this our Charter, or any existing Bye Law, or Laws and Statutes of this our realm, do all such acts and deeds as shall appear to them necessary for carrying into effect the objects and views of the said body politic and corporate.

PROVIDED always, and we do will and declare that the Council shall from time to time render to a General Meeting a full account of their proceedings, and that every Fellow of the Society may, at all reasonable times, to be fixed by the said Council, see and examine the accounts of the receipts and payments of the said body politic and corporate.

AND we further will, grant and declare, that the whole property of the said body politic and corporate shall be vested, and we do hereby vest the same solely and absolutely in the Fellows thereof, and that they shall have full power and authority to sell, alienate, charge, and otherwise dispose of the same as they shall think proper; but that no sale, mortgage, incumbrance, or other disposition of any messuages, lands, tenements, or hereditaments belonging to the said body politic and corporate shall be made, except with the approbation and concurrence of a General Meeting.

AND we lastly declare it to be our Royal Will and Pleasure, that no Resolution or Bye Law shall on any account or pretence whatsoever be made by the said body politic and corporate in opposition to the general scope, true intent, and meaning of this our Charter, or the Laws or Statutes of our realm, and that if any such Rule or Bye Law shall be made, the same shall be absolutely null and void to all intents, effects, constructions, and purposes whatsoever.

In witness whereof we have caused these our Letters to be made Patent.

WITNESS Ourselves, at our Palace at Westminster, this eighth day of February, in the twenty-second year of our reign.

By Her Majesty's command.

(Signed)

EDMUNDS.

BYE-LAWS OF THE ROYAL GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY.

As amended by a Special General Meeting held on June 22, 1896, and May 25, 1908.

CHAPTER I.

CONSTITUTION.

1. THE ROYAL GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY is instituted for the Advancement of Geographical Science.

2. The Society consists of Fellows, and of Honorary and Honorary Corresponding Members.

3. A Council shall be chosen annually from the Fellows to conduct the affairs of the Society, and shall consist of a President, six Vice-Presidents—two of whom shall be ex-Presidents, if available—a Treasurer and two other Trustees, three Honorary Secretaries, and twenty-one other Councillors.

4. Every Fellow shall be eligible to fill any of the offices in the Council. One of the Vice-Presidents, and seven of the other Councillors shall be changed every year, and shall not be eligible for re-election to the same office till after the expiration of one year.

5. In the case of the death or resignation of the President, of one of the Honorary Secretaries, or of the Treasurer, in the interval between any two successive annual meetings, the Council shall have power to appoint one of their number to perform the duties of the vacant office provisionally, until the next General Meeting.

6. The Society shall not make or distribute any dividend, division, or bonus in money, unto or between its Fellows.

CHAPTER II.

PUBLICATIONS AND COLLECTIONS.

1. THE Society shall, from time to time, under the superintendence of the Council, publish Transactions, and accompany them with Maps and other Illustrations, as occasion may require.

2. Each Fellow is entitled to a copy of the Society's monthly publication, which will be forwarded, free of expense, to all Fellows whose addresses are known.

3. The monthly publication shall include a Report of the Proceedings of meetings, papers read or abstracts thereof, donations made to the Society, and such additional matter as may seem appropriate.

4. The Society shall maintain a Library and a collection of Maps, Charts, Photographs and Instruments connected with Geographical Science to which Fellows and Strangers by free orders shall have access, under such restrictions as may appear advisable to the Council.

CHAPTER III.

ELECTION AND ADMISSION OF FELLOWS.

1. EVERY Candidate for admission into the Society as a Fellow must be proposed and seconded agreeably to the Form No. 1 in the Appendix II.; * and such proposal must be subscribed by one Fellow at least, who must certify his personal knowledge of the Candidate.

2. The Form, thus filled up, shall be delivered to the Secretary, and shall be read out at the next Ordinary Meeting of Fellows; after which it shall be suspended in a conspicuous place in the Society's House till the next Meeting:

3. The Election of Fellows is entrusted to the Council; and the names of those so elected shall be regularly announced at each Ordinary Meeting.

4. The Secretary shall send to every newly elected Fellow notice of his election within three days; together with a copy of the Bye-Laws of the Society, corrected to the date of issue, a List of the Fellows, and a Card announcing the days on which the Ordinary Meetings will be held during the current Session. But no election of a Fellow shall be complete, neither shall his name be printed in any List of the Fellows, nor shall he be entitled to exercise any of the privileges of a Fellow, until he shall have paid his entrance-fee and annual subscription; compounded for the same, as hereafter to be explained; or been exempted therefrom under paragraph 6 of this Chapter; and unless these payments be made within three calendar months from the date of election, such election shall be void; but this period may be extended by the Council in special cases.

5. Honorary and Honorary Corresponding Members shall be selected by the Council, and shall enjoy such privileges as the Council may from time to time determine.

6. The Council are empowered to remit the entrance fees and subscriptions in a limited number of cases, where it may be found desirable to elect gentlemen to the Fellowship who are distinguished for their services to Geographical Science.

CHAPTER IV.

WITHDRAWAL AND REMOVAL OF FELLOWS.

1. ANY Fellow may withdraw from the Society by signifying his wish to do so, by letter addressed to the Secretary, at the House of the Society; he shall nevertheless continue to be liable for his annual subscription for the year in which he signifies his wish to withdraw; and he shall further continue liable for such annual subscription until he shall have discharged all sums due by him to the Society, and shall have returned all books or other property borrowed by him of the

* See opposite.

Society; or shall have made full compensation of the same, if lost, or not forthcoming.

2. Any Fellow may be removed from the Society by the Vote, taken by ballot, of a Special General Meeting of the Fellows.

CHAPTER V.

PAYMENTS TO THE SOCIETY.

1. (a) EVERY Fellow elected after May 25, 1908, shall, on election, be required to pay £5 as Entrance Fee and £3 as Annual Subscription for the current year, and thereafter a Yearly Subscription of £3, due on January 1 of each year; or he may compound either at entrance by one payment of £45, or at any subsequent period on the following scale, provided that there shall be at the time no arrears due by him to the Society:—

Fellows of 10 years' standing and under 15 . . .	£30
„ 15 „ „ „ 20 . . .	£24
„ 20 „ „ „ over 20 . . .	£18 15s.

(b) The Subscriptions and Compounding Fees of Fellows elected before or on May 25, 1908, shall remain as heretofore, viz., the Annual Subscription at £2 and the Compounding Fee for

Fellows of 10 years' standing and under 15 at £20
„ 15 „ „ „ 20 at £16
„ 20 „ „ „ over 20 at £12 10s.

(c) No Fellow shall be entitled to vote or to enjoy any privilege of the Society while in arrear. Honorary and Honorary Corresponding Members and Fellows elected under Chapter III., paragraph 5, are not required to make any payments.

2. The first Annual payment of Fellows elected in November and December shall nevertheless be considered to extend to the 31st December of the following year.

3. So soon in every year as the Auditors shall have completed their financial investigation, the name of every Fellow in arrear to the Society, together with a statement of the amount in arrear, shall be reported to the Council; and notice of the same, with an account of such arrear, shall be forwarded to every Fellow whose name shall have been so reported; and if the arrear be not paid within one calendar month from the date of such notice, or within such further time as the Council may grant upon special cause to them shown, the Council shall direct that the name of the Fellow so reported, together with a statement of the arrear, shall be suspended in the House of the Society; and if the arrear shall not have been discharged before the second Ordinary Meeting after such suspension, the Council shall be empowered to remove his name from the Society's List; and the name of any one so suspended shall not be taken down until the arrear shall have been paid, or the Fellow shall have been removed from the Society.

CHAPTER VI.

MEETINGS OF THE SOCIETY.

Sect. 1.—Anniversary Meetings.

1. THE Anniversary General Meeting of the Fellows shall be held on the fourth Monday in May, or as near that date as may be found convenient.

2. Notice of this Meeting shall be sent to every Fellow residing in the United Kingdom, whose address is known; and shall be inserted in two or more newspapers, one week at least before the day of Meeting.

3. The following shall be the Agenda for the Anniversary General Meeting:

- (1) The Presentation of the Gold Medals and other awards of the Society.
- (2) The Presidential Address.
- (3) An interval for the withdrawal of visitors, prior to which no discussion shall be allowed.
- (4) The presentation of the Annual Report of the Council.
- (5) The election of the Council and Officers for the ensuing year.

No other business shall be transacted.

No resolution shall be passed at the Anniversary General Meeting. But in the event of any Fellow being desirous of bringing forward a Motion on any point in the Report of the Council, such Motion shall be handed in, read and referred to a Special General Meeting; provided that such Motion is supported by not less than forty Fellows present.

4. In order to give effect to the provisions in Chap. I., paragraph 4, which require certain annual changes, as before specified, in the Council, a sufficient number of printed balloting lists, according to the form in the Appendix, shall be prepared previous to the Meeting; one column of which shall contain a list of the existing Council, a second the names of Fellows changing office or retiring, a third the list proposed for election by the Council, and a fourth left vacant to receive names which any Fellow may wish to substitute for those proposed for election by the Council. One of the balloting lists shall be available for every Fellow present at the Meeting.

5. The chair shall be taken at the time named in the notice, or as soon after as twenty-five Fellows shall be present; whereupon the Chairman shall appoint two or more Scrutineers from among the Fellows present, to superintend the ballot during its progress, and, when it is closed, to examine the lists, and report the result to the Meeting.

6. Each Fellow voting shall deliver his balloting list, folded up, to one of the Scrutineers, who shall immediately put it into the balloting-box.

7. The Scrutineers shall report the number of votes for each person to the Chairman, who shall declare the persons on whom the election has fallen.

8. If the name of any Candidate is found to be simply erased in the majority of the balloting papers, without any name being substituted, as provided in paragraph 4 of this section, such Candidate shall not be elected. The vacancy thus created may either be left open till the next Annual Meeting, or be filled up at an adjourned General Meeting of the Fellows, as the Chairman may think best.

Sect. 2.—Special General Meetings.

1. The Council may at any time call a Special General Meeting of the Society, whenever it shall be considered necessary.

2. Any six Fellows may propose to the Council, by letter addressed to the Secretary, any new Bye-Law, or the alteration or repeal of any existing Bye-Law, or any resolution respecting the affairs of the Society, and if dissatisfied with the answer of the Council, may, if supported by the written requisition of not less than forty Fellows, require that the proposition be referred to a Special General Meeting, which the Council shall convene during the Session for that purpose within sixty days after receiving such requisition; the days in the months of August, September, and October not being included in the reckoning.

3. Thirty days' notice at least of the time when, and the object for which, every Special Meeting is to be holden, shall be sent to every Fellow residing in the United Kingdom. And no other business than that of which notice has been thus given shall be entered upon or discussed at such meeting.

4. Not fewer than one hundred Fellows must be present to pass any resolution at a Special General Meeting; and no such resolution shall be carried unless supported by two-thirds of the Fellows voting.

Sect. 3.—Ordinary Meetings of the Society.

1. The Ordinary Meetings shall be held on the evenings of the second and fourth Monday of every month during the Session; or otherwise as judged expedient by the Council.

2. Fellows will be admitted to the Meetings, on showing their "Fellow's Ticket," which will be sent to all whose Subscriptions are not in arrear, at the commencement of each Session.

3. One Visitor may be introduced personally by each Fellow present, or by a Fellow's Ticket transferred for the occasion. Visitors may also be admitted by invitation of the Council.

4. At the Ordinary Meetings, the order of proceeding shall be as follows:—

A. The Minutes of the last Meeting shall be read, and, if their accuracy be not questioned, signed by the President or Chairman.

B. Result of Ballot of Candidates and names of Proposed Candidates shall be announced.

C. Papers and communications shall then be read and discussed.

5. At the Ordinary Meetings of the Society nothing relating to its regulations or management shall be brought forward. But the Minute-Book of the Council shall be on the table at each Meeting; and extracts therefrom may be read to the Meeting on the requisition of any Fellow.

6. On occasions which the President shall decide to be of exceptional interest, and which shall be duly advertised in the Daily Newspapers, ordinary Tickets will not be available; but written or personal applications from Fellows will be received at the Office of the Society for Orders of Admission for themselves (single tickets), or for themselves and one friend (double tickets), up to a date to be notified by Circular; and on that date such seats as may remain after seating all Fellows who have applied shall be allotted to the guests of Fellows in the order of application.

7. On such occasions as described in Rule 6, Eighty Seats shall be reserved for Members of Council and their friends; and Fifty Reserved Seats for Visitors of distinction shall be at the disposal of the President.

CHAPTER VII.

COUNCIL AND OFFICERS OF THE SOCIETY.

Sect. 1.—Council.

1. THE government of the Society, and the management of all its concerns, are entrusted to the Council, subject to the provisions of the Charter and the Bye-Laws of the Society.

2. The President, any one of the Vice-Presidents, or any three other Members of the Council, may at any time call a Meeting of the Council; and when such Meeting is to be held, every Member of the Council residing in the United Kingdom shall be summoned by letter.

3. In all Meetings of the Council, five shall be a quorum; and all questions shall be decided by vote, unless a ballot be demanded. Any determination of the Council, whether by vote or ballot, shall, at the desire of any two Fellows present, be deferred to the succeeding Meeting; but no question shall be more than once so deferred.

4. Minutes of the Proceedings of every Meeting of the Council shall be taken in a rough book by one of the Secretaries, or, in case of their absence, by some Member of Council whom the President or Chairman shall appoint for the occasion. The Minutes shall be printed and transferred to a Minute-Book to be kept for that purpose, and read at the next Meeting of the Council, and signed by the President or Chairman.

5. The Accounts of the Society shall be examined by the Council from time to time; and at the Anniversary General Meeting the Council shall present a complete statement thereof, together with a Report on the general affairs of the Society during the preceding year.

6. The Council may refer particular subjects to Committees, to be named by the President or Chairman; and such Committees shall report to the Council the result of their proceedings.

7. There shall also be permanent working Committees of Council nominated by the President, the number, designation, and purposes of which shall be arranged by the Council as, from time to time, may seem necessary.

8. The Council may appoint persons, not being Members of the Council, to be salaried Officers, Clerks, or Servants, for carrying on the necessary concerns of the Society; and may define the duties to be performed by them respectively; and may allow to them respectively such salaries, gratuities, and privileges, as to them, the Council, may seem proper; and may suspend or discharge any Officer, Clerk, or Servant from office, whenever there shall seem to them occasion for so doing.

Sect. 2.—President.

1. The President when present is Chairman of the Council, of all Committees, and of all Meetings of the Fellows whether Ordinary or Special.

2. He shall execute, and cause to be executed, the Bye-Laws of the Society; shall see that all the Officers of the Society perform the duties assigned to them; shall call for Reports and Accounts from Committees and persons; shall cause of his own authority Special Meetings of the Council and of Committees to be summoned; and shall propose, from time to time, to the Council such measures as shall appear to him conducive to the welfare of the Society.

3. As Chairman of the Council he shall appoint Referees to examine and report on original Papers communicated to the Society, previous to their publication.

4. It is his duty, conjointly with the Council, to consider and resolve on the names of Fellows who are to go out of the Council, and of those to be recommended to the Anniversary Meeting to fill up the vacancies.

5. When prevented from being present at the meetings of the Fellows or Council, or from otherwise attending to the current business of the Society, he will be expected to give timely notice thereof to one of the Vice-Presidents, or, in their absence, to some other Member of the Council, who may exercise his authority until the next meeting of the Council.

6. In all Meetings of the Society and Council, except in the cases otherwise provided for, the decision of a majority of the Fellows voting shall be considered as the decision of the Meeting, the President or Chairman having only a casting vote.

Sect. 3.—Vice-Presidents.

1. One of the Vice-Presidents to be nominated by the Council shall exercise the authority of the President when absent.

2. The Vice-Presidents, by virtue of their office, shall be Members of all the permanent Working Committees of the Council.

Sect. 4.—Treasurer.

1. The Treasurer is ex-officio one of the Trustees of the Society; and the Funds of the Society shall be vested in his name, and in those of the two other Trustees.

2. The Treasurer has special charge of all Accounts; and shall see to the collecting of all sums of money due to the Society.

3. He shall, of his own authority, appoint a Collector, for whom he shall be responsible, and who shall receive a reasonable remuneration; and the money collected shall immediately be paid to the Bankers of the Society.

4. The Treasurer, in concert with the Secretary, shall keep a complete List of the Fellows of the Society, with the name and address of each accurately set forth; which List, with the other Books of Account, shall be laid on the table at every Ordinary Meeting of the Council.

5. The Accounts of the Treasurer shall be annually audited at the discretion of the Council either by a Chartered Accountant or by four Fellows, two selected from the general body of the Fellows, and two from the Council, proposed by the President or Chairman, and approved by the first Ordinary Meeting held in the month of February. No drafts on the Society's Bankers shall be paid unless signed by two of the Council and the Secretary.

Sect. 5.—Honorary Secretaries.

Of the three Members of the Council who are elected as Honorary Secretaries by the Society, two shall be General Secretaries and one the Foreign Secretary. The Honorary Secretaries shall assist the President in the performance of his duties, and shall exercise such other powers as the Council shall delegate to them from time to time. The Honorary Secretaries, by virtue of their office, shall be Members of all the permanent Working Committees of the Council.

Sect. 6.—Secretary.

The Secretary shall be a salaried officer, appointed by and responsible to the Council, and shall be the Editor of the Society's publications. His further duties shall be such as are from time to time determined by the Council.

III.—THE ADMISSION OF WOMEN.

At a Special General Meeting held in Burlington House on January 15, 1913, the following resolution was adopted: "That the Society approves of the election of women as Fellows." Since then eighty-eight ladies have been elected as Fellows of the Society, making, with the addition of those who were elected in 1892-93, a total of ninety-nine.

IV.—THE HOUSE.

FROM 1830 to 1840 the Society met in the rooms of the Horticultural Society in Regent Street, by arrangement with Dr. Robert Brown, the great botanist and one of the founders of our Society.

From 1840 to 1854 the Society's rooms were at 3, Waterloo Place, and meetings were latterly held at King's College.

From 1854 to 1870 the Society had a lease of 15, Whitehall Place, and the meetings were held in our library, which had been built for a ball-room. The theatre of the United Service Institution was lent to us for large meetings. From 1858 to 1870 the meetings were in the Royal Society's Hall, in the wing of Burlington House, since pulled down.

In 1870 the freehold of 1, Savile Row was purchased for £14,257. Since 1870 our meetings have been held in the hall of the University of London (afterwards transferred to the Civil Service Commission), but on exceptional occasions, such as the return of Mr. Stanley, Dr. Nansen, Captain R. F. Scott, Sir Ernest Shackleton, Dr. Sven Hedin, Captain Amundsen, and the Duke of the Abruzzi, the Albert Hall, or some other large hall, has been hired.

In 1909 a Building Fund was started and No. 6A, Vigo Street, adjoining the Map Room, was purchased.

In 1911 Earl Curzon of Kedleston was elected President, and he devoted himself with such energy and success to obtaining subscriptions that the Council, with the approval of a special general meeting, felt justified in purchasing further large new premises at Kensington Gore as the new home of the Society.

Considerable internal alterations were necessary and the house was opened to Fellows at Easter 1913. It is not possible this year to give a full description of the house; this, with illustrations, will be included in next year's issue of the Year Book.

V.

PUBLICATIONS.

THE JOURNAL.

ACCORDING to the Bye-Laws of the Society, Chapter II., Section 1, "The Society shall from time to time, under the superintendence of the Council, publish Transactions, and accompany them with Maps and Illustrations, as occasion may require."

The Society has carried out this bye-law from the beginning. The first volume of the "Journal of the Royal Geographical Society of London" was issued in 1832; it contained 284 pages, and included the papers read at the Meetings from November, 1830, to June, 1831, the last paper being an account of the discovery of the lower course of the Niger by Richard and John Lander. There were in all thirteen such papers. But from the first it was recognised as part of the duty of the Society to publish not only the papers read at its meetings, but also to take cognisance of matters of geographical interest in general. Under the head of "Analyses," the volume contains ten reviews, and under that of "Miscellaneous" a series of eight notices on various geographical topics. It also contains a report of the proceedings at the opening meeting of the Society on July 16th, 1830, with Sir John Barrow in the chair; and it is of interest to note the wide conception even then entertained as to the Society's functions. Sir John Barrow in his address pointed out that among the most important matters that would engage the attention of the Society would be "the composition of maps illustrative of particular branches of geographical knowledge, more especially those relating to orology, hydrology, and geology;" the establishment of more scientific divisions of the earth's surface; "a more uniform and systematic orthography than has hitherto been observed...and a more precise and copious vocabulary; the preparation and improvement of road-books for different countries, of gazetteers, of geographical and statistical tables, and of such matters as are of general utility."

The Society, it will be admitted, has through its publications done a vast amount of good work since its foundation, but much yet remains to be done before the objects referred to in the above regulations are fulfilled. The second volume of the Journal contained 350 pages, and the tenth volume nearly double that number. Lists of the additions to the library were given and of other publications, giving in a less systematic way, and in a more elementary form, the bibliographies which now form so important a feature of The Geographical Journal. It must be said, however, that in succeeding years the size of the Journal varied between 400 and 700 pages, and although always copiously supplied with maps, the illustrations were not so lavish as in the earlier volumes. The Journal continued to be published to the year 1880, making fifty volumes in all, containing a record of all the most important geographical work that had been accomplished during that period.

The practical utility of the Journal was greatly facilitated by the publication of a series of decennial indexes. The first of these, dealing with the first ten volumes, was published in 1834, and was compiled by Col. J. R. Jackson, the Hon. Secretary. It covered 216 pages in double columns. The General Index to the second ten volumes was compiled by Mr. George Smith Brent and edited by Dr. Norton Shaw; it contains only about half the number of pages of the previous and the succeeding volumes. The task of compiling the General Index to the third ten volumes of the Journal was generously undertaken by the late Sir Henry Yule. The fourth and fifth decennial indexes were done in part by the late Mr. Jones, Chief Clerk, and partly under the superintendence of the late Mr. Bates.

PROCEEDINGS.

In 1855 the work of the Society had so increased, and there was so much in its proceedings of present interest, that it was decided to issue an additional publication, to be entitled Proceedings. This was issued at frequent intervals during the year, and contained reports of the proceedings at the Meetings, abstracts of papers read, short notices on matters of interest, correspondence, the Annual Presidential Addresses, and other items not quite suitable for the annual Journal, which was reserved for full reports of the longer and more important paper. The first volume, for Sessions 1855-6 and 1856-7, was published in 1857, and contained 540 pages. The succeeding volumes, including only one Session, contain from 300 to 650 pages, increasing in size as the work of the Society and geographical activity grew. These Proceedings extended to twenty-two volumes in all, the last volume, including Session 1877-78, having been published in 1878, and covering the same period as the last twenty-five volumes of the Journal. A general index to the old Proceedings is now in course of preparation.

HISTORY OF THE SOCIETY.

In 1881, when the Society had completed its fiftieth year, the Council published in the last volume of the old Journal, and also as a separate volume, "The Fifty Years' Work of the Royal Geographical Society," by Mr. Clements R. Markham, C.B., F.R.S., Secretary.

PROCEEDINGS, NEW SERIES.

With the publication of the 50th volume of the Journal and the 22nd of the old Proceedings, the Council decided to combine the two into one monthly publication, to be entitled "The Proceedings of the Royal Geographical Society (new series) and Monthly Record of Geography." For some years previous to this, under the editorship of Mr. (now Sir) Clements Markham, a monthly Geographical Magazine had been published independent of the Society. The new series of Proceedings covered the ground both of the old Proceedings and Journal and of the Geographical Magazine, so that the last ceased to be published. The new Proceedings, indeed, aimed at being a Monthly Geographical Magazine, containing not only the proceedings and papers of the Society, but also by articles and notes, lists and notices of all new books and maps, original maps and illustrations, covering the whole field of geography. The first part was issued in January, 1879. The parts averaged from sixty-four to eighty pages each, and the volumes averaged about 800 pages. The periodical publication of the Society continued to be published in this form to 1892, when fourteen volumes of the new Proceedings were completed. To these fourteen volumes a General Index was published in 1896, containing 270 pages, double columns.

THE GEOGRAPHICAL JOURNAL.

In the year 1892 the Council were convinced that the time was ripe for a new departure in the periodical publications of the Society. The title "Proceedings," it was felt, was somewhat misleading as indicating the nature of the contents of the Monthly Journal issued by the Society. After careful consideration it was decided to change the title to that of The Geographical Journal, to increase its size, to cover still more completely the whole field of geography, to greatly increase the number of illustrations, and to introduce maps wherever it was possible to illustrate any point in this manner. The first number of the new Journal was published in January, 1893, and two volumes have been issued annually every year since. Each volume averages from 700 to 750 pages, or about 1500 pages annually, as compared with the 800 pages of the monthly Proceedings, of which the new Journal is the successor. Each volume contains from twenty to twenty-five large maps, besides smaller ones, and from fifty to a hundred illustrations. The Journal contains the papers read at the Society's meetings, reports of the proceedings, articles—varying in length—on exploring expeditions, and on matters of interest in all departments of geography, as well as on matters of public interest on which geography can throw light. Under the head of "Monthly Record" many pages each month are devoted to notes and news, classified under different heads. One of the most valuable features is the exhaustive bibliography of new books and papers and articles in the publications of societies and in periodicals relating to the various departments of geography, and also the list of new maps issued each month. Notes are appended in many cases to the titles of books and maps, while the more important publications are dealt with at greater length. The new Journal circulates to a considerable extent beyond the limit of the Society's Fellows. A complete general Index to the first twenty volumes has been published, and an Index to the second twenty volumes is in preparation.

SPECIAL PUBLICATIONS.

In the announcement prefixed to the last volume of the old Journal it was stated that papers of more than ordinary length and great value would be issued as supplements to the Proceedings. As a matter of fact supplementary volumes were occasionally issued from the beginning. Thus in 1836 were issued Howse's "Grammar of the Cree Language" and Graah's "Narrative of an Expedition to the East Coast of Greenland," translated from the Danish by G. Gordon M'Dougall. In 1873 Burton's "The Land of Cazembe" was issued by the Society, and in 1875 the volume of "Arctic Papers" for the use of the Nares Arctic Expedition. The "Hints to Travellers" is referred to specially below.

As "Supplementary Papers" to the new series of "Proceedings" thirty-two separate publications, memoirs and records of travel were issued between 1882 and 1893. These are collected into four large volumes. Some of the memoirs contained in these volumes are of great value; such as the late Colborne Baber's "Travels and Researches in Western China" (200 pages); "Progress of Discovery on the Coasts of New Guinea," by Sir Clements Markham; "Bibliographies of the Barbary States," by Sir Lambert Playfair; "On the Measurement of Heights by Barometer," by the late John Ball; "Journey of Carey and Dalgleish in Chinese Turkestan;" "Modern and Ancient Roads in Eastern Asia Minor," by D. G. Hogarth and J. A. R. Munro; "The Historical Geography of Asia Minor," by Professor W. M. Ramsay, which occupies the whole of Volume IV. Dr. Keltie's "Report on Geographical Education," which appeared originally as a supplementary paper, was also issued as a separate volume.

The issue of Extra Volumes has been continued along with the new Geographical Journal; they are in a different and more attractive form than the former Supplementary Papers. A list of the volumes issued will be found on page 22.

"HINTS TO TRAVELLERS."

In consequence of the frequent applications made to the Council of the Royal Geographical Society by travellers about to set out for imperfectly-known countries for instructions by which they might make their labours useful to geography, Colonel Jackson, the Secretary from 1840 to 1847, prepared a pamphlet entitled “What to Observe; or, the Traveller’s Remembrancer,” which went through four editions. In 1854 the Council requested the late Admiral Fitzroy and Lieut. Raper, R.N., to consider what instrumental outfit might best be recommended to explorers. Their report, together with suggestions submitted to them by Admirals Smyth and Beechey, Col. Sykes, and Mr. Francis Galton, was published first in the Journal for 1854, and afterwards issued in pamphlet form under the title of “Hints to Travellers.”

The exhaustion of the first edition led, in 1864, to the revision and enlargement of the original work by a Committee of the Council, consisting of Sir George Back, Admiral Collinson and Mr. Francis Galton, which was published as the second edition. In 1871 a third edition, under the same editorship, was published, and this was followed in 1878 by the fourth, under the sole editorship of Mr. Francis Galton, and in a new form convenient for pocket use.

In 1883 the Council, anxious to increase the usefulness of the volume, and to make it meet the higher requirements of a new generation of young travellers, many of whom had received scientific training from the Society’s instructor, appointed an Editorial Sub-Committee, consisting of Col. H. H. Godwin Austen, Mr. J. K. Laughton and Mr. Douglas W. Freshfield, to remodel the “Hints.”

The “Hints on Practical Astronomy and Surveying”—the principal portion of the work—were placed in the hands of Mr. Coles, the Society’s Map Curator and Instructor in Practical Astronomy and Surveying. The hints on Natural History were expanded by Mr. H. W. Bates, and hints on Geology and Anthropology were added by Mr. W. T. Blanford and Mr. E. B. Tylor. The section on Photography was re-written by Mr. W. F. Donkin, Meteorology by Mr. R. Strachan, Medical Hints by Mr. G. E. Dobson, and General Hints on Outfit by Messrs. E. Whymper, Col. J. A. Grant, C.B., and Mr. J. Thomson.

The fifth edition was exhausted in 1889, and the production of the sixth was commenced under the editorship of Capt. W. J. L. Wharton, R.N., the Hydrographer to the Admiralty, and Mr. Douglas Freshfield. All the sections were carefully revised. The “Hints on Meteorology” were re-written by Mr. H. F. Blanford, those on “Photography” were brought up to date by Capt. Abney, “Hints on Industry and Commerce” were furnished by Dr. J. S. Keltie, and an index was added.

In 1893 all the sixth edition had been sold, and the seventh edition was brought out under the same editorship as the sixth, several sections being re-written.

The eighth edition, which was published in 1901, was considerably enlarged and improved. It consisted of two volumes, both of which were edited for the Council by Mr. Coles. The first dealt entirely with fixing positions by astronomical observations and surveying, and contained much fresh information. The most important addition to this volume was the useful series of logarithmic and other tables from Raper's "Practice of Navigation," which were given by kind permission of the firm of J. D. Potter, the proprietors of that work. The second volume contained the shorter sections on Meteorology, Photography, Geology, Natural History, Anthropology, Medical Hints, &c., which were in the previous editions given in the same volume with the section on Surveying.

The eighth edition being exhausted in 1905, the Council in that year placed the preparation of a ninth edition in the hands of Mr. E. A. Reeves, the present Map Curator and Instructor in Practical Astronomy and Surveying. As the days of rough pioneering explorations are, in most parts of the world, fast drawing to a close, and more exact survey work is required, it has been necessary to rewrite the greater part of the first volume, to give more accurate formulæ in many cases, and a fresh set of examples. A general introductory chapter on geographical survey work suited to modern requirements is now given for the first time. The various sections of the second volume have been revised by their respective writers where possible, or failing this, by other experts on the subjects dealt with.

A separate pamphlet, edited by Dr. C. F. Harford, entitled "Hints on Outfit to Travellers in Tropical Countries," was published in 1903, and a new and revised edition of this has since been issued.

Mr. E. A. Reeves has prepared a text-book on Plane and Spherical Trigonometry, giving also the investigation of the more important formulæ of Practical Astronomy and Surveying. The book is specially arranged for the use of students attending the Society's course of instruction.

THE SOCIETY'S PUBLICATIONS.

THE GEOGRAPHICAL JOURNAL. Issued monthly. Delivered free to all Fellows; price to Non-Fellows, 2s.

GENERAL INDEX TO THE FIRST 20 VOLUMES OF THE GEOGRAPHICAL JOURNAL, 1893-1902. 660 pages, double columns. Price, to Fellows, 6s. 6d. net; to Non-Fellows, 10s. 6d.

JOURNAL OF THE ROYAL GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY (OLD SERIES), 1830-1880. 50 volumes, 8vo. Price, to Non-Fellows, £1 per vol. net; to Fellows, 15s. per vol.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE ROYAL GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY (OLD SERIES), 1855-1878. 22 volumes, 8vo. In parts, to Non-Fellows, 1s.; to Fellows, 9d. per part.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE ROYAL GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY (NEW SERIES), consists of 14 volumes, extending from 1879 to 1892.

Each volume covers on an average 840 pages, the selling price being 18s. per volume. These volumes constitute a record of exploration and geographical work in all parts of the world. In the 14 volumes there are some 350 maps, besides numerous illustrations of characteristic scenery in the least-known parts of the world. It is believed that a complete set of the Proceedings would be a valuable addition to public libraries and other institutions, while many private individuals might wish to have the volumes. The series is now offered, bound in cloth, at £6 per set.

SUPPLEMENTARY PAPERS.

In addition to the Proceedings, the Society has issued four volumes of "Supplementary Papers," containing a large number of Memoirs and Narratives of considerable length, besides several valuable Bibliographies. These will be sold for half price, £2 for the four volumes. These contain over 30 Maps and numerous Illustrations.

HINTS TO TRAVELLERS.—The ninth revised edition, edited, under a Committee of the Council, by E. A. REEVES, F.R.A.S., Map Curator and Instructor to the Society. Price 15s. net; to Fellows, at the House of the Society, 10s.

TRIGONOMETRY—PLANE AND SPHERICAL. With the Investigation of some of the more important Formulæ of Practical Astronomy and Surveying. Specially arranged for the use of Students attending the Royal Geographical Society's course of instruction. By E. A. REEVES, F.R.A.S., Map Curator and Instructor in Practical Astronomy and Surveying. Price 5s. net.

MAPS AND MAP MAKING. Three lectures by E. A. REEVES, F.R.A.S., Map Curator and Instructor in Surveying, R.G.S. Price to Non-Fellows, 8s.; to Fellows, 6s.

HINTS ON OUTFIT FOR TRAVELLERS IN TROPICAL COUNTRIES. By CHARLES FORBES HARFORD, M.A., M.D. Price 1s. net.

CATALOGUE OF THE LIBRARY OF THE R.G.S. Edited by Dr. H. R. MILL. Price, to Fellows, 2s. 6d. net; to Non-Fellows, 5s.

VI.

ORTHOGRAPHY OF GEOGRAPHICAL NAMES.

THE following Memorandum, with Rules on the Orthography of Geographical Names, was drawn up in 1891 and revised in 1893, 1894, 1899, and 1905:—

In 1878 the Council of the R.G.S., impressed with the necessity of endeavouring to reduce the confusion existing in British maps with regard to the spelling of geographical names, in consequence of the variety of systems of orthography used by travellers and others to represent the sound of native place-names in different parts of the world, formally adopted the general principle which had been long used by many, and the recognition of which had been steadily gaining ground, viz., that in writing geographical native names vowels should have their Italian significance, and consonants that which they have in the English language.

This broad principle required elucidation in its details, and a system based upon it was consequently drawn up with the intention of representing the principal syllabic sounds.

It will be evident to all who consider the subject, that to ensure a fairly correct pronunciation of geographical names by an English-speaking person an arbitrary system of orthography is a necessity. It is hardly too much to say that in the English language every possible combination of letters has more than one possible pronunciation. A strange word or name, even in our own language, is frequently mispronounced. How much more with words of languages utterly unknown to the reader.

The same necessity does not arise in most Continental languages. In them a definite combination of letters indicates a definite sound, and each nation consequently has spelt foreign words in accordance with the orthographic rules of its own language.

It was therefore not anticipated that foreign nations would effect any change in the form of orthography used in their maps, and the needs of the English-speaking communities were alone considered.

The object aimed at was to provide a system which should be simple enough for any educated person to master with the minimum of trouble, and which at the same time would afford an approximation to the sound of a place-name such as a native might recognise. No attempt was made to represent the numberless delicate inflexions of sound and tone which belong to every language, often to different dialects of the same language. For it was felt not only that such a task would be impossible, but that an attempt to provide for such niceties would defeat the object.

The adoption by others of the system thus settled has been more general than the Council ventured to hope.

The charts and maps issued by the Admiralty and War Office have been, since 1885, compiled and extensively revised in accordance with it. The Foreign and Colonial Offices have accepted it, and the latter has communicated with the Colonies requesting them to carry it out in respect to names of native origin.

Even more important, however, than these adhesions is the recent action of the Government of the United States of America, which, after an exhaustive inquiry, has adopted a system in close conformity with that of the R.G.S., and has directed that the spelling of all names in their vast territories should, in cases where the orthography is at present doubtful, be settled authoritatively by a Committee appointed for the purpose.

The two great English-speaking nations are thus working in harmony.

Contrary to expectation, but highly satisfactory, is the news that France and Germany have both formulated systems of orthography for foreign words, which in many details agree with the English system.

The Council of the R.G.S., by printing the Rules in "Hints to Travellers," and by other means, have endeavoured to ensure that all travellers connected with the Society should be made aware of them; but as it is possible that some bodies and persons interested in the question may still be in ignorance of their existence and general acceptance, they feel that the time has come to again publish them as widely as possible, and to take every means in their power to aid the progress of the reform.

To this end, and with a view to still closer uniformity in geographical nomenclature in revisions of editions of published maps, a gigantic task requiring many years to carry out, the Council have decided to take steps to commence tentatively indexes of a few regions, in which the place-names will be recorded in the accepted form.

RULES.

The Rules referred to are as follows:—

1. No change is made in the orthography of foreign names in countries which use Roman letters: thus Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, &c., names will be spelt as by the respective nations.
2. Neither is change made in the spelling of such names in languages which are not written in Roman character as have become by long usage familiar to English readers: thus Calcutta, Cutch, Celebes, Mecca, &c., will be retained in their present form.

3. The true sound of the word as locally pronounced will be taken as the basis of the spelling.

4. An approximation, however, to the sound is alone aimed at. A system which would attempt to represent the more delicate inflexions of sound and accent would be so complicated as only to defeat itself. Those who desire a more accurate pronunciation of the written name must learn it on the spot by a study of local accent and peculiarities.

5. The broad features of the system are:—

- (a) That vowels are pronounced as in Italian and consonants as in English.
- (b) Every letter is pronounced, and no redundant letters are introduced. When two vowels come together, each one is sounded, though the result, when spoken quickly, is sometimes scarcely to be distinguished from a single sound, as in ai, au, ei.
- (c) Two accents only are used: (1) The acute, to denote the syllable on which stress is laid. The use of this accent is very important, as the sounds of many names are entirely altered by the misplacement of this "stress." (2) The sign u with the vowel U, to indicate that the sound is open, as in up, not as in pull; as Tüing, pronounced as in the English word tongue.

6. Indian names are accepted as spelt by the Survey of India.

7. In the case of native names in countries under the dominion of other European Powers in whose maps, charts, &c., the spelling is given according to the system adopted by that Power, such orthography should be as a rule disregarded, and the name spelt according to the British system, in order that the proper pronunciation may be approximately known. Exceptions should be made in cases where the spelling has become by custom fixed, and occasionally it may be desirable to give both forms.

8. Generic geographical terms, e.g., those for Island, River, Mountain, &c., should be as a rule given in the native form. In the case of European countries, translation into English, where this has been the custom, should be retained, e.g., Cape Ortegal, not Cabo Ortegal; River Seine, not Fleuve Seine.

9. For Chinese names, the Wade system of spelling is adopted.

N.B.—On any printed map or MS. document, an explanatory table, giving the English equivalents of the generic terms used, should of necessity be inserted.

The following amplification of these rules explains their application :—

Letters.	Pronunciation and Remarks.	Examples.
a	ah, a as in father	Java, Banána, Somáli,
e	eh, a as in fate , e in benefit	Bari. Tel-el-Kebir, Oléleh, Yezo, Medina, Levúka, Peru.
i	English e; i as in ravine ; the sound of ee in beet . Thus, not Feejee , but	Fiji, Hindi.
o	o as in mote	Tokyo.
u	long u as in flute ; the sound of oo in boot . oo or ou should never be employed for this sound. Thus, not Zooloo , but	Zulu, Sumatra.
	The shorter sound of the different vowels, when necessary to be indicated, can be expressed by doubling the consonant that follows. The sounds referred to are as follows :— The short— a, as in father , as compared with the long a, as in father e, " better , " " e " fate . i, " sinner , " " i " ravine . o, " sobbing , " " o " sober . u, " pull , " " u " rubric .	Yarra, Tanna, Mecca, Jidda, Bonny.*
	In the case of two different consonants following a short u, the symbol ~ may be used instead of doub- ling the consonant, as Tűng , pronounced tongue . Doubling of a vowel is only necessary where there is a distinct repetition of the single sound	Nuulúa, Oosima.

ON THE GIVING OF NAMES TO NEWLY-DISCOVERED PLACES.

The Council of the Royal Geographical Society would urge upon all travellers that in giving names to any new discoveries which they may make they should be guided by the following restrictions, which, until comparatively recent years, were commonly observed :—

1. That before putting forward any personal or fanciful name the traveller should do his best to ascertain that no local name exists, and where none is forthcoming should further consider whether one might not conveniently be derived from the vicinity, e.g., from an adjacent stream, or pasture, or glacier, or from some characteristic of the natural object itself.

2. That no one should commemorate himself in this manner.

3. That any new nomenclature which a traveller may desire to suggest should be put forward tentatively and subject to the approval (1) of the administration of the region or country, if there is one ; (2) of the Official Cartographer of the country, if it possesses a Survey Department, or of the State to which the region may belong ; or (3) of the Council of the Royal Geographical Society.

VII. LIBRARY.

HISTORICAL.

THE Library was founded by the gift of books by the original members of the Society, 400 volumes forming the nucleus in 1832; but the growth of the collection was slow and intermittent until the acquisition of rooms in Waterloo Place, in 1841, when an opportunity was for the first time given of properly arranging the books. The wish was then expressed by the Council "that no work relating to Geography, no map or chart extant, should be wanting to the Library." In 1850 the number of volumes was about 4000, and two years later the exchange of publications with other societies was inaugurated, and a special grant was set apart by the Council annually for the purchase of books. Many volumes continued to be presented and bequeathed by Fellows interested in the welfare of the Library, and by 1872, when the books were arranged in the present premises at Savile Row, it had grown to be a collection of very great value. In 1880 the number of volumes was about 20,000; and the steady acquisitions since then have raised it to the rank of perhaps the finest geographical library in the world. In 1894 an extensive alteration of the Society's House permitted of a large expansion of the Library, and allowed the crowded shelves to be relieved and the works re-arranged; but the acquisition of fresh accessions goes on at an increasing rate, and additional space is again urgently needed.

PRESENT CONDITION.

It is estimated that the library contains about 60,000 volumes, about one-half being volumes of bound books, the rest pamphlets and volumes of serial publications. The acquisitions (including pamphlets and reprints) number about 1,500 per annum. By exchange with societies and periodicals in the United Kingdom and abroad, about 300 volumes are received annually. The other works are either presented by the authors or by Government Departments; placed in the Library after being noticed in the Geographical Journal, to which they are sent by the publishers; or purchased out of the special grant voted annually by the Council.

It was apparently the intention when the Library was founded to limit its contents to works of a purely geographical character, and at first books of travel preponderated. Later, works on ethnology, geology, history, and other allied subjects were added; but finally the exigencies of space have again demanded the restriction of accessions to more or less definitely geographical works.

The nucleus of the Library consists of descriptions of travel and exploration in all parts of the world, few really important works of this class being wanting. The Collections of Travels are also satisfactory, and include the early English collections of Eden (1555 and 1577), Hakluyt (1589 and 1599-1600), and Purchas (1617), besides the later collections of Astley, Burney, Callander, Churchill, Dalrymple, Harris, Kerr, Phillips, and Pinkerton. Foreign collections, such as those of Eyriès, Gottfried, Ramusio, Thévenot and others, are also well represented and include an almost perfect copy of the rare Italian collection "Paesi novamente ritrovati" (1507). The chief defect is the absence of a complete set of De Bry's "Voyages," the market value of which is about £500; but an incomplete set of six volumes (20 "parts"), in good preservation, was procured in 1897 at the sale of the Ashburnham Library.

The history of discovery is also represented in such collections as the publications of the Hakluyt Society and the "Recueil de Voyages," as well as in systematic treatises. The later literature of the discovery of America is fairly complete, among the most remarkable works being the great "Raccolta di Documenti e Studi" of the Italian Commission, and the beautifully illustrated "Christobal Colon" by Asensio.

The collection of works on general geography has received important accessions within the past few years, partly through purchase, but still more through generous presentations by Lord Peckover and Mr. Yates Thompson. Thus the Society has now a representative set of the "Geographia" of Ptolemy, including the editions of 1486 (Ulm); 1490 and 1508 (Rome); 1511 (Venice); 1513, 1520, and 1525 (Strasbourg); 1535 (Lyon); and 1541 (Vienne); besides the metrical version of Berlinghieri (Florence, circ. 1482) and others of later dates. With the modern maps and treatises added by successive editors, these supply a valuable picture of the progress of geographical knowledge during the great revival of learning, supplemented by independent works such as the "Cosmographia" of Sebastian Munster, the "Geografia" of Livio Sanuto, and many others. On the other hand, the "De Geographia" of Glareanus and the "Cosmographia" of Apianus and Gemma Frisius form an introduction to the many works on mathematical geography of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, in which the Library is comparatively rich. Recent general works in French and German are liberally represented and no English treatises of real importance are absent.

In physical geography there are still many gaps, and no effort has recently been made to include purely geological works. The Ethnology section also has been only partially kept up to date, on account of the great development of the subject and the existence of societies specially devoted to its study. The preservation of biographies of geographers is viewed as an important purpose of the Library. Hence, biographical dictionaries find a place on the shelves, and in default of more elaborate works, obituary notices, made up in pamphlet form, are preserved.

In a few instances collections of books presented or purchased have been kept apart from the main Library; for example, the unrivalled collection of works on Morocco, made by the late Dr. Robert Brown, and the valuable collection of Polar literature lately presented by Col. H. W. Feilden. It is to be hoped that the presentation of rare or inaccessible works by Fellows will continue. Many interesting papers are lost to the Society by being published in periodicals of a non-geographical character. Separate copies of these, presented by the authors, are always welcomed.

The Transactions and Periodicals are of three classes: (1) The official publications of Government Departments or international institutions of a geographical character, such as Sailing Directions, Census Reports, Records of Surveys, etc. (2) Geographical publications, either in the form of journals published weekly, monthly or quarterly, or the transactions of societies wholly or mainly devoted to geography. This department is practically complete for recent years. (3) Publications of a more general kind in which geographical papers are frequently published, including the transactions of Royal Societies and Academies, and high-class journals such as the Quarterly Review, the Nineteenth Century, the Fortnightly Review, the Contemporary Review, Blackwood's Magazine, and the leading weekly illustrated papers. No periodical which does not frequently publish geographical papers is subscribed for.

It may be of interest to refer to the languages represented in the Library. While English books predominate, works in French and German are treated on an exactly equal footing so far as selection is concerned. Books in other languages, such as Italian, Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, Swedish and Danish, are purchased only when they are of quite exceptional importance, and books in Russian, the other Slavonic languages, Hungarian, Finnish, Greek, Latin and Oriental languages are practically never bought, although a number have been presented. The result of a careful estimate shows that about 51 per cent. of the books in the Library are in English, 21 per cent. in French, 16 per cent. in German, and 12 per cent. in other languages. Of books dealing with geography as a science in general the greater number are in German.

ARRANGEMENT OF BOOKS.

Details under this head will be given in next year's Year-Book.

WORKING OF THE LIBRARY.

Each book or pamphlet as it is received is entered in the Accession Book, and the title copied for publication in the Journal. The book is then laid on the table for three months, and afterwards placed on the shelf containing other works of a similar kind. The pamphlets were until recently put in boards by the Society's map-mounter, but are now put away in boxes, as received, with a view to economy both of time and space. Many of the foreign books are published in paper covers, and these have to be bound, a stout cloth or buckram binding being in most cases preferred to leather, experience having shown that these resist the London atmosphere better than any leather binding. A number of old books formerly bound in calf or morocco have to be rebound in cloth each year. A special colour of cloth is used for binding books belonging to each section of the Library; but new books sent out in publishers' covers are not rebound until they fall to pieces.

The time of the Library staff is largely occupied by the routine of entering and cataloguing the new accessions, and in attending to Fellows who call in order to consult or to borrow books. Frequent demands are also made by Government Offices and by learned Societies for special information or references to geographical literature, all of which are attended to. The number of borrowers per week has averaged from seventeen to twenty-eight during the past dozen years; within the last half of which it has risen by 50 per cent. But this gives little clue to the actual amount of work involved; a few minutes suffice in some cases, in others as much as an hour may be necessary in looking for books containing the information required.

The use of the Library for purposes of geographical work has greatly extended since the reorganisation in 1894. Occasionally one person may come daily for a month or more and consult many hundred volumes; and the rooms are rarely without workers. As a matter of courtesy the members of foreign geographical societies visiting this country in order to consult the libraries are freely accorded the privileges of Fellows, so far as reference to the books is concerned.

A good deal of work has also to be done by letter, some of the questions asked often involving a great deal of hunting through works of reference before the correct reply can be found.

THE CATALOGUES.

The first Catalogue of the Library was prepared by the Secretary, Dr. Norton Shaw, in 1852, and was superseded in 1865 by a fresh volume of 542 pages, giving the contents of the Library down to that date. The entries were all arranged in one alphabet under authors' names as far as possible, but with long headings for "Transactions, Voyages," etc.

In 1871 Mr. G. M. Evans, of the British Museum, compiled a supplement of 136 pages, which included the accessions down to 1870. Mr. E. C. Rye, Librarian of the Society, brought out a second supplement coming down to 1880. This forms a volume of 380 pages, and while necessarily conforming to the previous arrangement, it is an admirable piece of work most conscientiously performed. When the time came for the next decade of accessions to be catalogued, the Library Committee decided not to issue it as a third supplement, because the original Catalogue was then out of print. It was accordingly resolved to reprint the old catalogue and supplements together with the new supplement, all carefully re-arranged and revised; and this was done. The volume was prepared by Dr. H. R. Mill, issued early in 1895, and is a complete list of the contents of the Library down to the end of 1893. It is a volume of nearly 840 pages, printed for the most part in double column. The first 520 pages form an Authors' catalogue, with 18,000 entries arranged alphabetically under authors' names. Of these 3,800 entries are cross-references. Books are in each case distinguished from pamphlets. Three appendices follow; the first, of 88 pages, gives an analysis of the collections of travels arranged alphabetically, with 3,300 entries. Appendix II., of 149 pages, contains 5,600 entries, dealing with anonymous and official publications arranged geographically; and the 61 pages of Appendix III. contain a list of the serial publications arranged geographically, and requiring 1,600 entries.

This Catalogue is kept up to date by the preparation, every month, of a printed list of accessions to the Library, all the more important of which are entered in the Geographical Journal. The compilation of this bibliography is by no means the least arduous piece of Library routine, for it includes memoirs and articles in journals as well as separate books. Each article is glanced through by the Librarian and a note on the contents added when necessary. The entries from two copies of this monthly bibliography are cut out, and one set is pasted on slips arranged alphabetically and kept in the Library for reference. The preparation of a new printed supplement is now almost complete.

In 1870 Mr. Evans prepared a Classified Catalogue, which is still useful, although of course much out of date. The arrangement was alphabetic, and the subjects entered were usually the names of places. A new subject catalogue of a complete kind is a most important desideratum. The Council having authorised the compilation of such a work, it was put in hand in 1893, and a good deal of time was occupied in getting over preliminary difficulties as to compilation and classification. Since 1892 the second copy of the notices in the "Literature of the Month" have been pasted on cards and arranged in geographical order by the Librarian, who, as the number of cards increased, was able to experiment on the best methods of classifying them. It was resolved to make these cards a nucleus for the great Subject Catalogue, which should thus commence by being up to date and be extended backwards to embrace the whole contents of the Library. The collection of title cards for this work, carried out under Dr. Mill's direction, was completed in January 1899, and numbers upwards of 100,000, including the contents of all the most important geographical journals and Transactions. The cards have been classified into countries and their main subdivisions, while the various departments of general geography have been subdivided in accordance with the plan experimentally adopted. The usefulness of this catalogue, already great, would be increased were the classification carried still further. It has been placed in an up-to-date cabinet, so that it is readily accessible and easy to consult. An incident in the preparation of the Subject Catalogue has been the attempt to construct a classification of geography such as will provide a place for recording every separate geographical fact and achievement.

The Library of the Society is being conducted with the view of making it an efficient engine of geographical progress, and not merely a repository for work done long ago. The arrangement of the shelves and catalogues is designed to afford the greatest possible facilities to Fellows desirous of studying any of the branches of geography, or consulting geographical literature, on any subject. During the last dozen years the work of the Library has greatly increased, and it shows no sign of diminution. The staff consists of the Librarian and three assistants.

REGULATIONS FOR THE LIBRARY AND MAP ROOM.

1. The Library shall be open to Fellows every day in the week except Sundays, Christmas Day, Good Friday, Bank Holidays, and on such other days as the Council may from time to time determine, from half-past Ten in the morning to half-past Four in the afternoon, except on Saturdays, when it shall close at One P.M. The Map Room shall be open to Fellows and the public on the same days and during the same hours as the Library.

2. Every Fellow of the Society is entitled (subject to the Bye-laws) to borrow as many as four volumes at one time, with the exception of Dictionaries, Encyclopædias, and other works of reference, Minute-Books, Manuscripts, Atlases, Books in loose sheets, unbound Numbers of Periodicals, Drawings and Prints, unless with the special written order of the President or one of the Secretaries. Maps, Charts, and Photographs can only be lent by the special sanction of the President or one of the Secretaries. New Works cannot be lent before the expiration of three months after receipt.

3. The title of every Book, Pamphlet, Map, or Work of any kind lent shall be entered in the Library-register, with the borrower's signature, unless applied for by letter in the borrower's hand:

4. No work of any kind can be retained longer than one month; but at the expiration of that period, or sooner, the same must be returned free of expense, and may then, upon re-entry, be again borrowed, provided that no application for it shall have been made in the meantime by any other Fellow.

5. Any Fellow requiring to consult a volume on the premises shall apply to the Librarian, or his Assistant, who will procure the same; and every such volume when done with shall be at once handed to the Librarian, or his Assistant, to be by him returned to its proper place.

6. In every case of loss or damage to any volume, or other property of the Society, the borrower shall make good the same; and all or any property shall be considered as lost, and recovery of its value be capable of being enforced, which is not returned within four months after application for it.

7. No stranger can be admitted to the Library except by the introduction of a Fellow.

8. Fellows transgressing any of the above Regulations shall be reported by the Secretary to the Council, when such steps will be taken as the case may require.

9. In consideration of the grant of £500* per annum from His Majesty's Government, the Map Room of the Society shall be open to all persons seeking geographical information.

VIII.

MAP ROOM.

THE Society receives a Government grant of £1,250 a year on condition that its collection of maps shall be open to the public.

A book kept in the Map Room, in which the number of visitors is entered, shows that this privilege is appreciated, and that the maps are frequently consulted by Government Departments and the public.

In addition to manuscript maps, the Society's collection includes many valuable ancient atlases and maps, and no opportunity is lost of making up deficiencies. All the principal Government surveys in the British Empire are received from the Imperial, Indian, and Colonial Governments, while those of foreign countries are added to the collection as soon as they are published. All important new maps and atlases, published in the United Kingdom or abroad, and if not presented, are submitted to the Map Committee, and, if approved, are purchased; thus the Map Room collection is kept well up to date, and the most recent and reliable maps can always be consulted by the Fellows of the Society and the public. The number of sheets of maps in the Society's collection now exceeds 136,000.

* In 1912 increased to £1,250.

The series of large continental diagram maps are in frequent request, and are lent to societies and to private individuals for a fee of £1 1s.

In 1884, on the suggestion of Mr. Douglas Freshfield, a beginning was made in the collection of photographs illustrative of the various regions of the world, and of geographical subjects. The Society's collection of photographs and slides now exceeds 38,000.

Since it was decided to illustrate papers read before the Society with the dioptric light, the number of lantern slides has steadily increased, and as the majority of them have been produced from photographs taken by explorers, they form what is probably the best collection of geographical lantern slides in the world. These slides are lent to the Fellows and the public at a charge of 2s. a dozen. A card catalogue of all the photographs and slides in the Society's collection has been prepared, and is now in use.

The Map Room catalogues are all in manuscript, with the exception of one that was printed in 1882. They are arranged geographically, and the date when each map is received, together with its title, scale, size of sheet, author, place and date of publication, and donor, are entered. Each map, atlas, and set of photographs has its proper press mark, which enables it to be readily found.

The staff of the Map Room consists of a Curator and two assistants.

MAP DRAWING AND MOUNTING.

The maps published by the Society are compiled and drawn on the premises. The Map-Drawing Department is under charge of the Map Curator. In this there are three draughtsmen, who are kept busy the whole year round examining and compiling the materials brought back by travellers from all parts of the world, and in executing special maps of particular regions from the best existing materials. The lithographing of the maps is done outside.

Among the more important maps published by the Society are:—“Map of Eastern Equatorial Africa,” by E. G. Ravenstein; “Persia, Afghanistan, and Beluchistan,” and “The Pamirs,” compiled under the supervision of Earl Curzon of Kedleston; “The Karakoram Himalayas,” by Sir Martin Conway; “Tibet and Surrounding Regions,” compiled from the latest information; “Glaciers of Kangchenjunga,” by Prof. E. J. Garwood; “Map of the River Congo,” by Rev. George Grenfell; “Tibet, showing Explorations by Major C. H. D. Ryder, R.E., D.S.O., and Captains H. Wood, R.E., and H. M. Cowie, R.E., of the Tibet Frontier Commission, 1904"; "Surveys of the Anglo-German Boundary Commission on the South-West Frontier of Uganda," by Lieut.-Colonel C. Delmé-Radcliffe, M.V.O., 1902-1904; "Route of the Alexander-Gosling Expedition through Northern Nigeria, from Ibi to Lake Chad," by Capt. Claud Alexander, Scots Guards, and P. A. Talbot, B.A.; "The Peaks, Passes and Glaciers of Ruwenzori," by H.R.H. the Duke of the Abruzzi; "Routes and Rivers in An-Hui and parts of adjacent provinces of China," from plane table surveys and sketches made under the direction of Lieut.-Col. A. W. S. Wingate; "Route of the Alexander-Gosling Expedition from the River Niger to the Red Sea, 1904-7"; "Map of the country north and south of the Anglo-German Boundary between Victoria Nyanza and Mount Kilimanjaro"; "Charts showing the explorations and surveys of the National Antarctic Expedition, 1901-4," by Lieut. G. F. Mulock, R.N. Survey of the Uganda Congo Boundary on the Western Frontier of the Uganda Protectorate by the British Commission under the command of Lieut.-Col. R. G. T. Bright, C.M.G., 1907-08. Maps showing the explorations and surveys of the British Antarctic Expedition, 1907-9, under the command of Sir Ernest H. Shackleton, C.V.O. Map of Turkey in Asia, Syria and Western Persia, 1910. Map of Southern Peru and Northern Bolivia, 1910. Maps showing portions of Chinese Turkestan and Kansu to illustrate the explorations of Sir M. Aurel Stein, 1906-9. Recent surveys in Southern Abyssinia, by Major C. W. Gwynne, C.M.G., D.S.O., R.E. Lower Mesopotamia from surveys made under the direction of Sir William Willcocks, K.C.M.G. Maps of the Upper-Yenisei and the Karlik Tagh and Barkul Mountains, by Douglas Carruthers.

In the Map-Mounter's Room all important maps acquired by the Society are mounted on cloth for their better preservation.

SCIENTIFIC INSTRUCTION.

PREVIOUS to the year 1879 the only instruction given in practical astronomy and surveying to intending travellers was undertaken privately by the late Map Curator, Staff Commander George, R.N., and his successor, Mr. John Coles.

In the summer of 1879 the Council sanctioned a portion of a scheme proposed by the Secretary, Mr. Clements Markham, for giving instruction to intending travellers in the use of instruments for astronomical observations and surveying. Mr. Coles, the Map Curator, was appointed the instructor, and held that position until his retirement in 1900. Mr. Reeves then undertook the work of instruction until

Mr. James McCarthy, late Government Surveyor in Siam, who had been appointed instructor, entered on his duties in the autumn of 1901. Mr. McCarthy retired in June, 1902, after which Mr. Reeves was permanently appointed instructor. The lessons are given in the Society's building, and an observatory has been built on the roof to facilitate instruction; surveying, and a great deal of the astronomical work is taught in the country. It was arranged that the fees paid by the pupils should be at the rate of 2s. 6d. per hour, and, in the first year, thirteen intending travellers received instruction. During the past year seventy-four gentlemen have received instruction.

As some of the results of the instruction given, twelve explorers have contributed maps which have been published by the Society during the past year, and altogether ten—viz., Earl Curzon of Kedleston, Mr. St. G. R. Littledale, the late Mr. Joseph Thomson, Capt. H. H. P. Deasy, Dr. Donaldson Smith, Sir Harry Johnston, Mr. D. W. Freshfield, Sir Martin Conway, Lieut. Boyd Alexander, and Mr. Douglas Carruthers—have been awarded the Society's gold medal; while twenty-one others have received minor awards for work done in the field.

The fees for instruction at the Society have continued to be 2s. 6d. an hour, and the whole course is as follows:—

Practical Astronomy.

Latitude.—Observations with the sextant and theodolite, including the adjustments, and finding index and level error. Computation of latitude by meridian altitudes of sun and stars, by circum-meridional altitudes, by Polaris and double altitudes.

Longitude and Time.—Observations with sextant and theodolite and computations for finding local time by sun and stars, and thence the longitude; equal altitudes of sun and stars for finding error and rate of watch. Telegraphic determinations of differences of longitude. Longitude by occultations of stars by the moon, and the prediction of the circumstances of occultations; longitude by meridian distances. The principle of longitude by moon culminating stars; by eclipses of Jupiter's satellites and Lunar distances.

Azimuths.—Azimuth by star and sun, theodolite and sextant observations. Error of compass from the observed bearing of the sun and the computed true bearing of the sun.

Surveying.

Triangulating and traversing with theodolite, with their adjustments. Measurement of base-line. Latitude and Azimuth Traverses. Geodetic Latitudes and Longitudes. Astronomical Base-line. Computing the position of distant points observed with theodolite from the ends of a base-line, and plotting the same on projected plane-table sheet. Plane-table surveying, including different methods, of orienting the table, finding position and continuing survey from points previously fixed by triangulation. Subtense Instrument surveying and finding the value of divisions of micrometer. Route surveying with prismatic compass. Keeping the field-book. Levelling and computation of heights from observed vertical angles, allowing for curvature and refraction; heights from barometer and boiling-point observations. Contouring, drawing contour lines, and vertical sections from them. Principle of photographic surveying.

Map Projections, Plotting, and Map Drawing.

Construction of the more useful map-projections, including the investigation of their principles. Plotting surveys from field-books. Map drawing, with special reference to the delineation of topographical features. Scales of maps, and the construction of diagonal and other scales.

By a resolution of the Council, 4th January, 1897, it was decided to grant diplomas, as originally proposed by Mr. (now Sir Clements) Markham in 1879, to students who had gone through the whole course of instruction, and who could pass an examination on the subjects mentioned before a committee appointed for that purpose. A list of those who since that date have successfully passed the examination and received diplomas will be found at the end of the list of medallists, etc.

The foregoing has reference only to instruction in surveying and astronomical observations, but in the year 1884 the Council sanctioned the rest of the scheme proposed by Sir Clements Markham in 1879 for assisting intending travellers, who obtained a certificate of competency in practical astronomy and surveying. They can now also receive instruction in other subjects on the same plan, as regards fees, and in 1895 this scheme was further expanded.

The following is a list of the subjects :—

Geology, including practical training in the field. By arrangement with the Director-General of the Geological Survey.

Botany. By arrangement with the Director, Royal Botanic Gardens, Kew.

Zoology. By arrangement with the Director of the Natural History Museum, South Kensington.

Anthropological Measurements. Under the superintendence of the Royal Anthropological Institute.

Photography. By Mr. JOHN THOMSON, Author of "Photographic Illustrations of China and its People," and other works.

Meteorology. By Dr. H. R. MILL.

Outfit. Dr. C. F. HARFORD.

EDUCATION.

For the last quarter of a century the Council has made very persistent efforts to improve the geographical education of the country, and not without permanent results. In 1884 Mr. Keltie, afterwards Librarian (1885), and now the Secretary to the Society, was commissioned to investigate the position of geographical education in Great Britain and on the Continent. He made a full report; and in 1885-86 there was an exhibition of geographical appliances for teaching. The collection has since been kept at the Teachers' Guild Museum in Gower Street. There can be no doubt that Mr. Keltie's Report was the means of arousing an interest in the teaching of geography, which has since increased, so that its influence has been permanent and useful.

From 1871 to 1887 the Council perseveringly represented to the authorities of the Oxford and Cambridge Universities the urgent importance of giving geography its proper place as a subject for instruction. At length it was arranged, in 1888, that a Reader in Geography should be appointed at Oxford, half his salary being paid by the University and half by the Society, for a period of five years. At the end of that time the Society consented to continue its payments for another five years; and, under the able conduct of Mr. H. J. Mackinder, the Readership became a marked success. The University authorities fully recognised its importance, and at the end of the second five years they resolved to continue it permanently without assistance from the Society. In 1899 a new departure was made by the establishment in Oxford of a School of Geography under the supervision of a Joint Committee of the Society and the University. To the School the Society contributed £400 a year for two periods of five years, the University contributing a like sum. On the retirement of Mr. Mackinder in 1905 (to undertake the Directorship of the London School of Economics), Dr. A. J. Herbertson, who had been on the staff of the School for several years, was appointed Reader and Director of the School, becoming Professor in January, 1910. Besides Dr. Herbertson, the staff of the School includes Mr. G. B. Grundy as lecturer in Ancient Geography; Mr. N. F. Mackenzie, M.Inst.C.E., Instructor in Surveying; Mr H. O. Beckett, Assistant to the Director; Miss N. E. MacMunn and Mr. A. Grant Ogilvie, Demonstrators, the last-named also acting as Librarian. The School is intended to furnish a thorough theoretical and practical training in every branch of geography in the highest acceptation of the term. A start was made in October, 1899, and so far the results have been so encouraging that the grant has been continued for another five years from the summer of 1909.

At Cambridge University a lectureship in geography was established in February, 1888, towards which the Society agreed to contribute two-thirds of the salary for a term of five years. As at Oxford, the Council agreed to continue the payment to Cambridge for a second five years. On the expiry of that term geographical instruction was recognised by the University authorities as so useful that a readership in geography was established, the appointment having been given to Mr. Yule Oldham, the former lecturer. The Council consented to continue its payments towards the salary for a third five years (ending 1903). As the University arranged to expand the readership into a school of geography, with several lecturers and teachers, somewhat on the lines of Oxford, to establish a diploma, and recognise the subject in the degree examination, the grant was continued for five years from October, 1903. The School was reorganised in 1908 and the Society's grant continued for another five years. In 1911 it was increased to £300 per annum, on condition that a like sum was contributed by the University. The regular staff consists of Mr. H. Yule Oldham, University Lecturer in Historical and Economic Geography; Mr. P. Lake and Mr. A. R. Hinks, R.G.S. Lecturers in Physical and Regional Geography, and in Surveying and Cartography, respectively; while lectures in connection with the school are also given by Dr. A. C. Haddon, and Prof. J. Stanley Gardiner. In 1905 a contribution of £100 was made towards founding a Chair of Geography at the University of Edinburgh; a lectureship was instituted in 1908. A lectureship was also instituted in Glasgow University in 1909. There are lecturers on the subject in University College, London, Victoria University, Manchester, the University, Liverpool, the University, Birmingham, the University, Sheffield, and University College, Aberystwith. It is recognised in the examinations of the University of London, in the Civil Service examinations, while in secondary schools it is taking an increasingly important place.

The Society has also given liberal assistance to the Oxford University Extension Board; for several years contributed £100 a year for lectures in geography to the London University Extension Society; granted £75 a year, from 1891 to 1897, for a lectureship at Owens College, Manchester; £50 a year to University College, Aberystwith, in 1907 and 1908, and prizes to the Training Colleges from 1888 to 1894. At present prizes are given for geography to the training-ships Conway and Worcester, to the Oxford and Cambridge Local Examinations, and to Victoria University, Manchester.

In 1903, at the request of the Oxford and Cambridge Local Examination Board and the London School Board, the Society prepared and issued a Syllabus of Instruction for Geography in elementary and in secondary schools.

XII.

MEETINGS.

THERE are on an average fourteen evening meetings during the Session from November to June, besides special afternoon Research meetings in the Map Room. The evening meetings are opened by the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, of the names of newly-elected Fellows, and of candidates for election. The President then refers to any matter of interest to the Society, and briefly introduces the reader of the paper for the evening. The papers are almost invariably illustrated by lantern slides. After the reading of the paper a discussion takes place. The meeting then adjourns to the tea-room, where tea and coffee are served, and where there is an exhibition of photographs and articles bearing on the subject of the paper. The following is a list of papers read at the evening meetings during last year, 1912:—

1912.

- Jan. 15.—“Chinese Frontiers of India,” by Archibald Rose, C.I.E.
 „ 29.—“Exploration in the Canadian Rockies,” by Prof. J. Norman Collie, F.R.S.
- Feb. 12.—“Exploration in Papua,” by the Hon. Miles Staniforth Smith.
 „ 26.—“The Economic Geography of the Tyne,” by Prof. A.J. Sargent.
- Mar. 11.—“Some New Zealand Volcanoes,” by Dr. J. Mackintosh Bell.
 „ 25.—“Exploration in North-Western Mongolia and Dzungaria,” by Douglas Carruthers.
- Apr. 1.—“The Mountains of Northern Sikkim and Garhwal,” by Dr. A. M. Kellas.
 „ 22.—“Southern Nigeria,” by A. E. Kitson.
- May 6.—“United Nigeria,” by C. L. Temple, C.M.G.
- June 10.—“The Garden of Eden and its Restoration,” by Sir William Willcocks, K.C.M.G.
 „ 24.—“A Year’s Exploration in the Sonora Desert, Mexico,” by Dr. Carl Lumholtz.
- Nov. 4.—“Influence of Geographical Conditions on Japanese Agriculture,” by Miss Ellen Churchill Semple.
 „ 15.—“The Norwegian South Polar Expedition,” by Capt. Roald Amundsen.
- Dec. 2.—“Geographical Results of the Abor Expedition,” by A. Bentinck.
 „ 16.—“From the Victoria Nyanza to the Kisii Highlands,” by Dr. Felix Oswald.

RESEARCH MEETINGS.

In 1903 the Council instituted a Research Department for the discussion of the more scientific aspects of geography, for encouraging the investigation of various geographical problems, for prosecuting geographical work in the field and other similar objects. The department was conducted by a committee consisting of members who are specialists in some section of geographical work. In 1912 the Department became an integral part of the work of the Society, with a Committee appointed as are the other Committees of Council; the meetings as in the past to be held in the afternoon. There have been several afternoon meetings of this department during 1912, when useful discussions took place on the following subjects:—

1912.

Jan. 18.—“The Settlement of Sediment in Running Water,” by Dr. J. S. Owens.

Feb. 14.—“Distribution of Early Bronze Age Settlements in Britain,” by O. G. S. Crawford.

Apr. 18.—“Study of Morocco,” by A. Grant Ogilvie.

May 23.—“The Work of the Research Department,” by Prof. J. L. Myres.

Nov. 21.—“Recent Improvements in Survey Instruments,” by E. A. Reeves.

ANNIVERSARY DINNER AND SOIRÉES.

THE Anniversary Dinner takes place on the evening of the day on which the Anniversary Meeting is held. The dinner and annual soirée have always been useful conclusions to the business of the Session. They have tended to make the affairs of the Society work smoothly, to promote acquaintanceship among the Fellows, and to increase our numbers.

The evening receptions were commenced by Sir Roderick Murchison in his own house, 16, Belgrave Square, in 1852. The Earl of Ellesmere gave them at Bridgewater House from 1854 to 1856; Sir Roderick, at 16, Belgrave Square, from 1857 to 1860; and Lord Ashburton, at his house in Piccadilly, in 1861 and 1862. In 1863 the Fellows had become too numerous to be received in a private house, and Sir Roderick gave receptions at Willis's Rooms from 1863 to 1870. Sir Henry Rawlinson did the same from 1872 to 1875, and in 1876 the reception was at South Kensington. In 1877 Sir Rutherford Alcock's reception was at Willis's Rooms.

From 1878 to 1886 there were no receptions. The want of them was felt, and those who were most experienced in the working of the Society were convinced that it was desirable to resume them.

In 1887 they were resumed, General Strachey and the Council receiving the Fellows at South Kensington in that year, and at Willis's Rooms in 1888. Sir Mountstuart Grant Duff and the Council received the Fellows at Willis's Rooms in 1889, and at South Kensington in 1894. In 1895 Sir Clements Markham and the Council received the Fellows in the Water Colour Gallery in Piccadilly, and again in 1896, when 1000 were present. The Soirées since 1898 have been held in the Natural History Museum, except in 1901, when the President held a reception in Westminster Town Hall, and in 1913, when a reception was held in the Society's House, Kensington Gore. The attendance on each occasion is about 1500.

THE WORKING OF THE SOCIETY.

THE affairs of the Society are carried on by the Council with the aid of the salaried staff, under the direct supervision of the President and the Honorary Secretaries.

The Council meets, on an average, once a fortnight, from November to June. Its business is very varied. All correspondence of importance is laid before it for consideration; it has the administration of the Society's finances; requests for grants of money for explorations and geographical research, and for the loan of instruments, have to be considered from time to time; in it is vested the election of Fellows; it has to see to the efficiency of the Society's library and map collection; papers offered to the Society for reading at meetings and for publication have to be considered and referred to specialists for report; it has annually to adjudge the honours awarded by the Society.

Such are some of the multifarious duties of the Council. Much of the business brought before it is referred in the first instance to committees, which, after careful consideration of any matter, report to the Council, with which rests the final decision.

These Committees are—Finance, Library and Map, Expedition Research, Education and Orthography. Special committees are occasionally appointed when deemed advisable. The Finance Committee meets once a month, the other Committees when necessary.

The correspondence of the Society, which is heavy, is carried on by the Secretary, who is responsible to the Council for the efficient working of the various departments, and for the execution of the Council's decisions.

The clerical staff consists of a Chief Clerk and two assistants, in addition to the Secretary's Clerk. It is their duty, under the direction of the Secretary, to attend to the business affairs of the Society, the keeping of accounts, the collection of fees, the notification of elections, the preparation of business for Council and Committees, the issue of publications, arrangements for meetings, and much else, involving a good deal of correspondence.

The Society's House is in charge of a housekeeper and his wife, who reside on the premises, and who, with assistance, attend to the daily cleaning. Once a year, during the summer vacation, the whole house is completely overhauled, all the books and bookshelves cleaned, and repairs seen to. So far as books go, the introduction of electric lighting into the house has done much to prevent the deterioration of the bindings.

Of course a considerable amount of the work of the Society is necessarily done outside by printers, stationers, bookbinders, lithographers, and others. The Society has its own shorthand writer to report the discussions at the meeting.

1898.—Dr. Sven Hedin—Founder's Medal—For his important exploring work in Central Asia.

Lieut. E. A. Peary, U.S.N.—Patron's Medal—For his explorations in Northern Greenland, dating from twelve years ago, and especially for his memorable sledge journey across the Greenland ice, and for his discovery of its northern termination.

H. WARINGTON SMYTH—The Murchison Grant for 1898—For his several important journeys in Siam.

GEORGE P. TATE—The Back Grant for 1898—For his survey work in Afghanistan, Baluchistan, especially Makran, Aden, and on the Indus.

EDMUND J. GARWOOD—The Gill Memorial for 1898—For his valuable geographical work in Spitsbergen during two seasons, in company with Sir Martin Conway.

POULETT WEATHERLEY—The Cuthbert Peek Grant for 1898—For his exploration of the region between Lakes Mweru and Bangweolo.

1899.—Captain Binger—The Founder's Medal—For his work in the bend of the Niger in 1887-89.

M. Foureau—The Patron's Medal—For his explorations in the Sahara during the last twelve years.

ALBERT ARMITAGE—The Murchison Grant for 1899—For his valuable scientific observations, astronomical, meteorological and magnetic, during a service of three winters and five summers in the Arctic regions, with the Jackson-Harmsworth expedition.

CAPTAIN P. M. SYKES—The Back Grant for 1899—For his three journeys through Persia.

*HON. DAVID CARNEGIE—The Gill Memorial for 1899—For his journey across the Western Australian desert in 1896-7, from Coolgardie to Hall's Creek, and back by a different route.

DR. NATHORST—The Cuthbert Peek Grant for 1899—For his important scientific exploration of the Spitsbergen Islands, and the seas between Spitsbergen and Greenland.

1900.—Captain H. H. P. Deasy—The Founder's Medal—For the exploring and survey work which he has accomplished in Central Asia during two expeditions lasting three years altogether.

James McCarthy—The Patron's Medal—For his great services to geographical science in exploring all parts of the Kingdom of Siam; for his laborious work during twelve years in collecting materials for a map to form the basis of a survey system, and for his admirable map of Siam just completed.

H. ARGTOWSKI—The Murchison Award for 1900—For the valuable oceanographical and meteorological work which he performed on the Belgian Antarctic Expedition, the results of which he communicated to the Society's Journal.

VAUGHAN CORNISH—The Gill Memorial for 1900—For his researches, extending over several years, on sea-beaches, sand-dunes, and on wave-forms in water.

ROBERT CODRINGTON—The Back Grant for 1900—For his journey in the region between Lakes Nyasa and Tanganyika, during which he removed a section containing the inscription from the tree under which Livingstone's heart was buried.

T. J. ALLDRIDGE—The Cuthbert Peek Grant for 1900—For his journeys during the past ten years in the interior of Sierra Leone, during which he has done valuable geographical work, and collected materials for maps which have been of service to the Intelligence Branch.

1901.—H.R.H. The Duke of the Abruzzi—The Founder's Medal—For an expedition to Mount St. Elias in N.W. America, and an expedition towards the North Pole by the Franz Josef Land route.

Dr. A. Donaldson Smith—The Patron's Medal—For explorations in Somaliland and across from Lake Rudolf to the Nile.

*JOHN COLES—The Murchison Award for 1901—For the great value of his services to Geography and to the Society as Map Curator and Instructor during a period of twenty-two years.

CAPTAIN CAGNI—The Gill Memorial for 1901—For his journey over the frozen ocean to latitude 86° 33' N.

SUB-LIEUT. W. COLBECK, R.N.R.—The Back Grant for 1901—For the survey work which he did in Victoria Land, and during the voyage of the Southern Cross.

L. C. BERNACCHI—The Cuthbert Peek Grant for 1901—For his series of scientific observations taken in Victoria Land and the Ross Sea.

1902.—General Sir Frederick D. Lugard, K.C.M.G., C.B., D.S.O.—The Founder's Medal—For what he has done since 1888 directly and indirectly for the exploration of Africa.

Major P. Molesworth Sykes—The Patron's Medal—For his journeys in Persia, extending over nine years.

E. G. Ravenstein—The Victoria Medal—For his efforts during forty years to introduce scientific method into the cartography of this country.

J. STANLEY GARDINER—The Murchison Grant for 1902—For his researches in Funafuti Island in the Pacific and the Maldive Islands in the Indian Ocean.

G. G. CHISHOLM—The Gill Memorial for 1902—For the services rendered during twenty-five years to geographical education by text-books of various kinds, atlases and lectures, all of a high standard of value.

LIEUT. AMDRUP—The Back Grant for 1902—For his two voyages of exploration to the east coast of Greenland.

J. P. THOMSON—The Cuthbert Peek Grant for 1902—Mr. Thomson was founder of the Queensland Branch of the Australian Geographical Society.

1903.—Douglas W. Freshfield—The Founder's Medal—For his journeys in the Caucasus in 1868, 1887, and 1889. For his writings ('Central Caucasus and Bushan,' 1869, and the 'Exploration of the Caucasus,' 1896). For his journey in 1899 into Sikhim and Nepal, "round Kanchinunga," at a high level, one of the passes being of the height of about 21,000 feet.

Captain Otto Sverdrup—The Patron's Medal—For his important discoveries up Jones Sound while in command of an expedition in the Fram, admirably organised and conducted, which extended over a period of four years.

Dr. Sven Hedin—The Victoria Medal—For the valuable scientific results of his several years' exploration in Central Asia.

CAPTAIN GUNNAR ISACHSEN—The Murchison Grant for 1903—Captain Sverdrup's right-hand man in the recent expedition, and did a great amount of exploring work.

MAJOR BURDON—The Cuthbert Peek Grant for 1903—For his excellent route maps in N. Nigeria, which he has presented to the Society.

ELLSWORTH HUNTINGTON—The Gill Memorial for 1903—For his remarkable journey through the Great Canon of the Euphrates River.

DR. W. G. SMITH—The Back Grant for 1903—For his investigations into the geographical distribution of vegetation in Yorkshire.

1904.—Sir Harry H. Johnston, G.C.M.G., K.C.B.—The Founder's Medal—For his explorations and investigations in Africa since 1879; Portuguese West Africa and the Congo in 1882-3; Mt. Kilimanjora in 1884; British Central Africa from 1888 to 1897; Tunis, 1897-9; Uganda in 1900-1. As Administrator in British Central Africa and Uganda he did a great deal to interest his subordinates in the work of exploration.

Commander Robert F. Scott, C.V.O., R.N.—The Patron's Medal—For his conduct of the National Antarctic Expedition, and especially for his Sledge Journey to 82° 17' S.

LIEUTENANT COLBECK—The Murchison Grant for 1904—For his great and important services to the Society while in command of the relief expeditions.

DON JUAN VILLALTA—The Cuthbert Peek Grant for 1904—For important geographical discoveries to the east of the Andes, while in command of a Peruvian exploring expedition.

CAPTAIN IRIZAR—The Gill Memorial for 1904—For his very successful expedition for the rescue of the Nordenskiöld Antarctic Expedition.

DR. M. A. STEIN—The Back Grant for 1904—For his valuable geographical work in Central Asia; and especially for his mapping in the Sarikol and Kwen-Lun ranges.

Special Antarctic Medal.

In Gold to CAPTAIN R. F. SCOTT, C.V.O., R.N., Commander of the National Antarctic Expedition. In silver to the Officers and Staff of the Discovery—LIEUT. A. B. ARMITAGE, R.N.R., LIEUT. C. W. R. ROYDS, R.N., LIEUT. M. BARNE, R.N., LIEUT. G. F. A. MULLOCK, R.N., LIEUT. E. SHACKLETON, R.N.R., ENG.-LIEUT. REGINALD SKELTON, R.N., DR. REGINALD KOETTLITZ, DR. EDWARD WILSON, J. V. HODGSON, L. C. BERNACCHI, and H. T. FERRAR; also in Silver to the men of the Discovery who remained with the Expedition during the whole period.

1905.—Sir Martin Conway—The Founder's Medal—During a long series of years Sir Martin Conway has devoted himself to the exploration of various mountain regions of the world—the Alps, the Himalayas, the Andes, and also to the islands of Spitsbergen.

Captain C. H. D. Ryder, R.E.—The Patron's Medal—Captain Ryder's claim to a medal rests mainly on the extensive and valuable work which he did while acting as principal Survey Officer on the recent Tibet Mission.

'Special Antarctic Medal presented by the Royal Geographical Society to Captain R. F. Scott, C.V.O., R.N., in Gold, and to the Officers and Men of the "Discovery" in Silver, November, 1904.

John George Bartholomew—The Victoria Research Medal—Mr. Bartholomew during many years has done more than any other professional cartographer to raise the standard of cartography in this country.

WILLIAM WALLACE, C.M.G.—The Murchison Grant for 1905—For the great services he has rendered to exploration and geography, directly and indirectly, during the many years he has served as an official in Northern Nigeria.

COLONEL F. R. MAUNSELL, R.A.—The Gill Memorial for 1905—For his explorations during many years' residence in Asia Minor, and especially for the large map he has compiled, largely from his own materials, and placed at the disposal of the Society.

FRANCIS J. LEWIS—The Cuthbert Peek Grant for 1905—For the valuable contributions he has made to our knowledge of botanical distribution by his researches on the Geographical Distribution of Vegetation in the North of England.

CAPTAIN PHILIP MAUD, R.E.—The Back Grant for 1905—For valuable survey work along the Southern border of Abyssinia in 1903; the results, with map, published in the Geographical Journal.

1906.—Alfred Grandidier—The Founder's Medal—For his many years' devotion to the exploration of the Island of Madagascar and to the publication of its results.

Robert Bell, F.R.S., Sc.D. (Cantab.), LL.D., M.D.—The Patron's Medal—For his services to geography during his forty-five years of field work in Canada. He has mapped a large area of Canada previously unknown.

Prof. W. M. Ramsay—The Victoria Research Medal—For his many years' investigation of the Ancient Geography of Asia Minor.

MAJOR H. R. DAVIES—Murchison Award—For his explorations in the Kachin Hills, the Shan States, Yun-nan, Se-chuan, and Siam.

MAJOR A. ST. HILL GIBBONS—Gill Memorial—For the important exploring and survey work which he did in Barotseland on his two expeditions in 1895-96 and in 1898-1900.

MAJOR H. H. AUSTIN, C.M.G., D.S.O., R.E.—The Cuthbert Peek Grant—For his explorations in British East Africa, the Lake Rudolf and Sobat regions.

MAJOR R. G. T. BRIGHT, C.M.G.—The Back Grant—For his eight and a half years' exploring in the Sudan, Uganda, and East Africa.

1907.—Dr. Francisco Moreno—The Founder's Medal—For more than twenty years he has been personally occupied in the work of South American exploration.

Captain Roald Amundsen—The Patron's Medal—For his three years' work (1903-6) round the North Magnetic Pole, during which he explored and mapped much new land, and in the end sailed through the North-West Passage.

CAPTAIN G. E. SMITH, R.E.—The Murchison Bequest—For his various important surveys in British East Africa, carried out with admirable efficiency.

C. RAYMOND BEAZLEY, M.A.—The Gill Memorial—For his work, in three volumes, on the 'Dawn of Modern Geography,' the results of many years' research at his own expense.

C. E. Moss, B.Sc.—The Back Bequest—For his important researches on Geographical Distribution of Vegetation in England.

MAJOR C. W. GWYN, C.M.G., D.S.O., R.E.—For his survey work on the Blue Nile and along the proposed Sudan-Abyssinian frontier.

1908.—Lieut. Boyd Alexander—The Founder's Medal—For his three years' exploration of the region between the Benue and Lake Chad, from Lake Chad and the Nile.

H.S.H. the Prince of Monaco—The Patron's Medal—For his study of oceanography for many years.

COLONEL DELMÉ-RADCLIFFE, C.M.G., M.V.O.—The Murchison Bequest—For his important work in the Nile province of Uganda, when in charge of the English section of the Anglo-German Boundary Commission, between Victoria Nyanza and Mount Ruwenzori.

DR. T. G. LONGSTAFF—The Gill Memorial—For the important exploring work which he did at his own expense in the Western Himalaya and Tibet.

LIEUT. G. F. A. MULLOCK, R.N.—The Back Bequest—For his survey work on the National Antarctic Expedition, and for his long continued work in preparing the six sheets of Antarctic Charts.

RAI SAHIB RAM SINGH—The Cuthbert Peek Grant—Native Indian Surveyor, who has done excellent surveying work on the expeditions of Capt. Deasy, Dr. Stein, Capt. Rawling, and Major Ryder.

1909.—Dr. M. A. Stein—The Founder's Medal—For his extensive geographical and archaeological explorations in Central Asia.

Colonel the Hon. M. G. Talbot, R.E.—The Patron's Medal—For extensive survey work in the N.W. Indian frontier and in the Sudan.

Professor Alexander Agassiz—The Victoria Research Medal—For thirty years' work in oceanographical exploration.

CAPTAIN C. G. RAWLING—The Murchison Grant—For survey and exploration in Tibet.

COMMANDER B. WHITEHOUSE—The Gill Memorial—For a triangulated survey embracing the whole of Victoria Nyanza.

CAPTAIN R. OMMANNEY, R.E.—The Cuthbert Peek Grant—For fixing the geographical framework of Northern Nigeria.

RAI SAHIB LAL SINGH—The Back Grant—For survey work in Central Asia under Dr. Stein.

Special Antarctic Medal.

In Gold to Sir Ernest Shackleton, c.v.o., Commander of the Expedition, and in Silver to Lieut. J. B. Adams, B. Armytage, Sir Philip Brocklehurst, B. Day, E. Joyce, F. L. A. Mackintosh, Dr. Eric Marshall, G. E. Marston, James Murray, R. E. Priestley, W. Roberts, F. Wild, Prof. T. W. E. David, Capt. F. P. Evans, Dr. A. Forbes Mackay, Douglas Mawson.

1910.—Colonel H. H. Godwin Austen, F.R.S.—The Founder's Medal—For his work on the N.W. Himalayas.

Dr. William Speirs Bruce—The Patron's Medal—For his work in the Antarctic in Novaya Zemlya and Spitsbergen.

DR. CARL SKOTTSBERG—The Murchison Grant—For his work in 1907-9 in Magellan Straits and neighbouring regions.

DOUGLAS CARRUTHERS—The Gill Memorial—For his important journey in North-Central Arabia, which he carried on under exceptional difficulties and with important results.

Special Gold Medal presented to Sir Ernest H. Shackleton, C.V.O., Commander of the British Antarctic Expedition.

- LIEUT. C. E. FISHBOURNE, R.E.—The Cuthbert Peek Grant—For his exploration of the Lake Kioga region.
HANNIS VISCHER—The Back Grant—For his important journey from Tripoli to Nigeria, across the Eastern Sahara.

Special Arctic Medal.

In gold to Comm. R. E. Peary for Arctic exploration, 1886-1909; and in silver to Captain Bartlett who in 1909 accompanied him to 88° N. lat.

- 1911.—Colonel P. K. Kozloff—The Founder's Medal—For his explorations in Central Asia since the year 1883.

Dr. J. B. Charcot—The Patron's Medal—For his important expeditions to the Antarctic Continent, first in 1903-5, and second in 1909-10.

Captain H. G. Lyons, F.R.S.—The Victoria Research Medal—For his investigations of the River Nile and its basin carried out while the Director-General of the Egyptian Survey Department.

DR. WILFRED GRESFELL—The Murchison Bequest—For his many years' work in Labrador, during which he has contributed largely to our knowledge of the geography and its people and resources.

CAPTAIN G. E. LEACHMAN, of the Royal Sussex Regiment—The Gill Memorial—For the journey he made in 1910 in North Eastern Arabia.

DR. ARTHUR NEVE—The Back Request—Dr. Neve has resided in Kashmir for many years and devoted himself to the investigation of the Himalayas, to a knowledge of the physical geography and glaciology of which he has made contributions of the first importance.

R. L. REID—The Cuthbert Peek Fund—Mr. Reid has during his six years' residence in the northern portion of the Congo State carefully mapped the whole of the Aruwimi River, and in conjunction with his brother mapped a very considerable portion of the region to the north of that river.

- 1912.—Charles Montagu Doughty—The Founder's Medal—Thirty years ago Mr. Doughty rendered great and enduring service to geographical knowledge by his remarkable exploration of Arabia, a service which has stood the test of time. His book is still the best authority on the Bedawi life, and his discoveries on the Hydrography, Orography, and Geology of the peninsula are the foundation of our knowledge in those matters.

Douglas Carruthers—The Patron's Medal—For his explorations in Central Asia and Arabia, 1908-11.

Sir C. H. Darwin, K.C.B., F.R.S.—The Victoria Medal—For his invaluable investigations on Tides and in Geodesy.

CAPTAIN W. C. MACFIE, R.E.—The Murchison Award—For his work in connection with the Uganda Topographical Survey in 1908.

CAPTAIN F. M. BAILEY—The Gill Memorial—For the valuable work he accomplished during his expedition, 1911, from the valley of the Yangtse westward to Sadiya.

Award of the Royal Premiums.

MR. L. A. WALLACE—The Back Bequest—For his thorough exploration of the Tanganyika plateau and the country round it.

MR. CECIL CLEMENTI—The Cuthbert Peek Grant—For his extensive travels in Central Asia.

1913.—Lady Scott.—A CASKET, with suitable inscription to contain the PATRON'S MEDAL and the SPECIAL ANTARCTIC MEDAL awarded to her late husband, Captain R. F. Scott, in 1904.

Dr. E. A. Wilson (The late)—The Patron's Medal (Presented to Mrs. Wilson)—Dr. Wilson was selected as Medical Officer, Vertebrate Zoologist and Artist, to accompany the National Antarctic Expedition under Commander R. F. Scott in 1902. He much distinguished himself by his study of the whales, seals, and birds of the Ross Sea and Victoria Land. He wrote a paper on the result of his work in that region which forms the second Appendix to "The Voyage of the 'Discovery,'" and he read a paper at a meeting of the Research Department of this Society on "The Distribution of Antarctic Seals and Birds," in February, 1905. Dr. Wilson, by his skill as an artist, greatly enhanced the value of his scientific work, and by his remarkable powers of endurance and physical aptitude for polar exploration, became one of the most dependable sledge travellers of the expedition. He accompanied Commander Scott on his southern journey to Lat. 82° 17 S. in 1902-3. In 1910, Dr. Wilson was selected by Captain Scott to be chief of the Scientific Staff of the British Antarctic Expedition of that year. In setting forth the plan of that expedition in the "Geographical Journal" for July, 1910, Captain Scott said: "Dr. Wilson will be the chief of the Scientific Staff; his Antarctic services are too well known to need comment."

Colonel S. Burrard, F.R.S., C.S.I.—The Victoria Medal—For many years before Colonel Burrard became Surveyor-General of India he was the Superintendent of the Trigonometrical Survey Office in Dehra Dun, and was thus responsible for the success of what is probably the most important system of geodetic triangulation with which this country is interested. His chief claim for consideration, however, does not lie so much in any one particular branch of scientific research, as that he has consistently supported (and in some cases personally initiated) every line of scientific enquiry connected with geodesy or geography that has recently been organized in India. It is only necessary to mention the series of pamphlets on the geography and geology of the Himalaya Mountains and Tibet and the attraction of the Himalayas on the plumb line of India, as well as more recent papers on the difficult question of Isostasy in India. He has quite recently been much interested in the Magnetic Survey of India, and the development of a primary system of levelling. He is an official adviser of the Government of India on scientific matters, and he has always been a leader in personal research into all the many scientific problems which beset the progress of geographical knowledge in India. There is not a scientific explorer of any eminence in India who has not consulted (and in some measure been guided by) Colonel Burrard. His reputation now is European, and there has probably been no Surveyor-General in India of equal scientific attainments since the days of Everest.

LIEUTENANT VICTOR CAMPBELL—A Special Award in the form of a Gold Watch was given to Lieutenant Campbell, for the ability and good leadership as Commander of the Northern Party of the British Antarctic Expedition, which enabled him when left at Terra Nova Bay with small resources to bring his party through a long Polar winter and to conduct it in safety in the spring, a distance of 230 miles to the base of the expedition at Cape Evans.

MAJOR H. D. PEARSON, R.E.—The Murchison Award—Major Pearson has been engaged in the Survey of the Sudan for about ten years past, and succeeded Col. M. G. Talbot as Director of Surveys in 1905. Since then he has organized and carried out the Land Revenue Survey of the Gezira, Dongola province, and other parts; the topographical survey has been considerably extended, and in several expeditions he has added largely to the exact knowledge of little known districts of the Sudan. Besides his ordinary administrative work as Director of Surveys, he had availed himself of all opportunities to produce reliable maps of this part of Africa, and to investigate its Geography. He has communicated recently a paper to the "Geographical Journal," and has published an account of the special survey methods which he has employed. He has determined astronomically, many places on which later surveys have been based.

MISS LOWTHIAN BELL—The Gill Memorial—For her many years' work in exploring the geography and archæology of Syria, Mesopotamia, and Turkey-in-Asia.

DR. FELIX OSWALD—The Cuthbert Peek Grant—For his scientific exploration in Armenia, the results of which were published at his own expense; and his more recent work in the region between the Victoria Nyanza and the Kisii Highlands.

MR. WILLIAM S. BARCLAY—The Back Bequest—Mr. William S. Barclay some years ago gave us an interesting paper on his experiences in Tierra del Fuego and Patagonia. More recently the valley of the great river Parana has been the scene of his travels, and he gave us a lecture on this subject of great importance to the physiographic and economic development of South America.

The following is a list of the gentlemen who have obtained the Society's Diploma in Geographical Surveying and Practical Astronomy, with the year of their examination:—

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL, ETC.

ROYAL CANADIAN MOUNTED POLICE

INVESTIGATION DIVISION

Royal Geographical Society

1913

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL.

READ AT THE ANNIVERSARY MEETING OF MAY 26TH.

THE COUNCIL have the pleasure of submitting to the Fellows the following Report on the general and financial condition of the Society :—

Membership.—The number of Fellows elected during the year ending April 30th, 1913, was 391. In the previous year, 1911–1912, the total elections amounted to 282, and in 1910–1911 the number was 292. Our losses have been, by death 127; by resignation, 40; and by removal on account of arrears of subscription, 45. The total number of Fellows on the list, exclusive of Honorary and Honorary Corresponding Members, on May 1st was 5062.*

Finance.—As will be seen by the annexed Statement of Receipts and Payments for the year, the total net income for the Financial year ending December 31st, 1912 (i.e. exclusive of balance in hand and bequest from the late Sir G. S. Mackenzie), was £14,604 18s. 6d., of which £10,535 10s. consisted of entrance fees and subscriptions of Fellows. In the previous year, 1910, the total net income was £14,266 5s. 5d., and the amount of subscriptions, etc., £9468 19s.; in 1909 the two totals were £13,182 19s. 1d. and £8934 3s. respectively.

* It will be observed that the elections are given for the year ending April 30th, the accounts for the year ending December 31st. The total number of Fellows elected during the financial year January to December, 1912, was 260.

The net expenditure for the past year was £12,957 8s. 11*d.*
The net expenditure in 1911 was £12,814; in 1910, £13,126
17s. 4½*d.*

The Finance Committee of the Council have held, as usual, Meetings during the year, supervising the accounts of the Society. The Annual Audit was held on the 1st May, the accounts being audited by a chartered accountant and duly certified as correct.

Auditor's Report.—I beg to report that I have examined the "Statement of Receipts and Payments" of your Society for the year ended December 31st last with the books and vouchers, and find it to be correct. I have also verified the Bankers' balances and the securities held for investments of the Society's Trust Funds, as follows :—

Securities held by Bankers :—

£1334 London and North-Western Railway 3% Debenture Stock.

Securities inscribed at the Bank of England :—

£1121 0s. 8*d.* 2½% Consols "A."

£440 2½% Consols "B."

£198 1s. Local Loans 3% Stock.

£1028 5s. 6*d.* New South Wales 3½% Stock (1924).

The ordinary receipts for the year amount to £14,604 18s. 6*d.*, an increase of £688 10s. 10*d.*, as compared with the previous year.

During the year a legacy of £45 was received from the Executors of the late Mr. Edward Whympers, and £10,865 7s. 8*d.* was realized from the sale of the Society's investments.

The ordinary expenditure of the year amounts to £12,957 8s. 11*d.*, an increase of £143 1s. 7*d.* over that of the previous year, made up as follows :—

Publications.—The monthly ‘Journal’ has been issued with regularity throughout the year; the twelve numbers for 1912 forming two volumes of 1427 pages, illustrated by 54 maps and 155 illustrations and diagrams. The total cost of the edition of 6350 copies (including £854 5*s.* 6*d.* for free delivery to Fellows and Institutions) was £4084 15*s.* 10*d.* From this is to be deducted the amount of £1224 14*s.* 7*d.* received from sale of copies to the public and from advertisements. The sum of £180 was expended on Extra Publications.

Year-Book and Record, 1913.—The sixteenth issue of the Year-Book will be ready for issue in a few weeks.

Library.—During the past year, in addition to serial publications, and a valuable collection of Arctic books spoken of below, 1528 books and pamphlets have been added to the Library. Of these 1379 were presented, and 149 purchased. The titles of these accessions and of the more important papers in geographical publications have been printed monthly in the ‘Geographical Journal.’ Among the new books added some of the more important are:—A number of the publications of the Geological Survey, completing the Society’s collection; Bonney, ‘The Building of the Alps’; Vete. d’Ollone,

'In Forbidden China'; Filippi, 'Karakoram and Western Himalaya, 1909'; Richthofen's 'China,' (vols. 3 and 5, and Part 2 of the Atlas, completing this most important work); Hose and McDougall, 'The Pagan Tribes of Borneo'; Rickmers, 'The Duab of Turkestan'; The Duke of Mecklenburg, 'Vom Kongo zum Niger'; Spencer and Gillen, 'Across Australia'; Wollaston, 'Pygmies and Papuans'; Amundsen, 'The South Pole'; Mikkelsen, 'Lost in the Arctic'; Murray and Hjört, 'The Depths of the Ocean'; Schott, 'Geographie des Atlantischen Ozeans.'

On the occasion of the Society's move into its new premises, Col. H. W. Feilden has presented to the Library the whole of his valuable collection of Arctic books and pamphlets, brought together with great assiduity during over 50 years, and including some 600 items. Other accessions among older books are:—Abbot, 'Briefe description of the whole world' (1620); Montaigne, 'Journal du voyage en Italie' (1774); White, 'Journal of a voyage... to Dalagoa Bay' (1800); and Henderson, 'Account of the British settlement of Honduras' (1811).

The whole of the Library has now been provisionally arranged in the shelves in the new premises, but a considerable amount of rearrangement has still to be carried out.

The number of borrowers per week has averaged 25 during the year. The sum of £179 5s. 9d. was expended on books, and £124 7s. 5d. on binding, during the year ending December 31st, 1912.

The new Catalogue Supplement is now in the printer's hands.

Scientific Instruction.—During the past year 72 intending travellers have received instruction under Mr. E. A. Reeves, in the Society's Observatory, and in the country for star observations and surveying with the theodolite, plane table, prismatic compass, etc. Two of these gentlemen have successfully passed an examination before the Committee, and have obtained the Society's diploma.

Instruments to the value of £391 8s. have been lent during the past year as follows:—Mr. A. F. R. Wollaston (New Guinea), £40 17s. 6d.; Mr. J. G. C. Anderson (Asia Minor), £6 6s.; Mr. W. S. Routledge (Easter Island), £94 10s.; Sir M. A. Stein (Central Asia), £45 9s.; Mr. I. N. Dracopoli (British East Africa), £40; Mr. F. Kingdon Ward (N.E. Trans-Frontier of India), £97 13s. 6d.; Mr. T. N. Ainscough (Western China), £66 12s.

The instruments lent to the following gentlemen have been returned during the past year, with the exception of a few that have been lost, or for some special reason are still retained:—Lieut. G. F. A. Mulock, R.N., 1910; Mr. W. J. Harding-King, 1909; Oxford School of Geography, 1899; Major E. L. Cowie, 1911; Mr. C. Grant Peterkin, 1912; Dr. W. Grenfell, 1909; Sir W. M. Ramsay, 1908; Dr. W. M. Strong, 1905, 1907.

The following is a list of travellers who still have instruments lent to them in their possession:—Cambridge School of Geography, 1903–5; Dr. W. M. Strong (New Guinea), 1905–7; Sir W. M. Ramsay (Asia Minor), 1904–5–8; Mr. P. A. Talbot (Southern Nigeria), 1906; Capt. C. Vicars Boyle (Northern Nigeria), 1906; Mr. D. Cator (Northern Nigeria), 1906–7; Mr. J. Humphrey (India), 1906; Rev. A. B. Fisher (Uganda), 1906; Mr. R. Glennie (Brazil), 1908; Rev. Thomas Lewis (Angola), 1908; Mr. E. Hutchins (British East Africa), 1909; Mr. M. Hardy (Paraguay), 1910–11; British Antarctic Expedition, 1910; Dr. W. Grenfell (Labrador), 1910; Mr. D. G. Hogarth (Asiatic Turkey), 1911; Dr. Douglas Mawson (Antarctic Regions), 1911; Mr. S. K. Hutton (Labrador), 1911; Lieut. L. Aylmer (East Africa), 1911; Capt. H. D. Pearson, R.E. (Egyptian Sudan), 1911; Dr. Hamilton Rice (Upper Amazon Region), 1911; Mr. A. F. R. Wollaston (New Guinea), 1912; Mr. J. G. C. Anderson (Asia Minor), 1912; Mr. W. S. Routledge (Easter Island), 1912; Sir M. A. Stein (Central Asia), 1912; Mr. I. N. Dracopoli (British East Africa), 1912; Mr. F. Kingdon Ward (N.E. Trans-Frontier of India), 1913; Mr. T. M. Ainscough (Western China), 1913.

Map Room.—The accessions to the Map Room Collection during the past year comprise 2230 sheets of Maps and Charts, 44 Atlases (including continuations) containing 1165 sheets of Maps, 1532 Photographs, and 201 Lantern Slides. Of these, 157 Maps on 619 sheets, 25 Atlases, 113 Photographs, and 201 Lantern Slides have been purchased.

The important donations to the Map Room during the past year have been noticed in the 'Geographical Journal.'

THE SOCIETY'S NEW HOUSE.

It was stated in the Report last year that the Council were negotiating for new premises, but were not in a position to make any statement on the subject. Before the end of the summer, arrangements were successfully concluded for the purchase of Lowther Lodge, Kensington Gore, a fine house built for the late Mr. Lowther about 1874, standing in grounds covering two acres. Possession of the house was obtained in the beginning of November. Considerable alterations had to be made to adapt it to the purposes of the Society. These took somewhat longer than was expected, but the Society was able to enter into actual possession at Easter this year, after occupying temporarily for three months a house in Cromwell Gardens, during which period the Society's books, maps, photographs, and other collections had to be stored. These were, with comparatively little delay, moved into the new house which was opened to Fellows on April 14.

Some time must necessarily elapse before the whole of the Society's collections are satisfactorily arranged in the new premises, but all the departments of the Society, the Map Room, Library, Map-drawing department, and the school for instruction are now in working order.

On the ground floor, the entrance hall leads into a large and handsome apartment, which, as is the case throughout the house, has been re-decorated. This is devoted to the purposes of a Museum, which, as time goes on, will be stored with relics and other objects of interest in connection with explorers and geographical exploration. Round this room have been hung the portraits of the Society's Medallists. Beyond the Museum, and occupying most of the South front of the house, are the two principal map rooms of the Society, which have been to a large extent refurnished with mahogany map-cases. On the walls of the main map room are hung oil portraits of distinguished explorers and geographers. On the west of the main map room is the Council room of the Society, round which are hung portraits of the Royal Patrons of the Society, and a complete series of portraits of Past Presidents. Attached to this a new annexe is in course of construction, which will be used as a photographic exhibition room. On the east side is the Secretary's room. Ascending the handsome staircase we reach the first floor. Around the spacious walls of the landing are arranged as a frieze the well-known oil paintings of South Africa and the Malay Archipelago by Thomas Baines, the companion of Livingstone. On the landings of the staircase are placed the busts of famous explorers. The whole of the south front of the first floor is occupied by the library of the Society, which has also been extensively re-furnished with mahogany book-shelves. The library occupies four rooms, one being the main Reading Room, and another the Fellows' work-room. One side of the corridor is lined with book-shelves, and on the other are hung pictures of interesting landscapes. On the north side of the corridor are a tea-room, smoking room and writing room, partly occupied with book-shelves and decorated with pictures of Polar and African subjects. On the east side of the first floor are the offices of the Society.

The whole of the pictures, portraits, oil paintings, water colours, engravings, and photographs of the Society have been overhauled, classified, and labelled, gaps have been filled, and many additions made.

On the second floor are the map-draughtsmen's rooms, and the rooms devoted to instruction in surveying, and also several store rooms which are used for books. On the roof has been constructed an observatory which is used for the purposes of solar and stellar observation.

On the ground floor are cloak rooms for ladies and gentlemen, while the extensive and well-lighted basement has been utilized for the storage of books and maps, the Society's publications, for the map-mounter, and for other purposes.

Below the terrace on the south front of the house the upper part of the garden has been laid out as an extensive lawn, and beyond that is an acre of ground which it is hoped the Society will be able to sell at a good price, part of which will be devoted to the construction of a hall in close proximity to the main building, to be used for the Society's meetings and other purposes. Although the Society's new house at Kensington Gore is considerably farther west than the old premises in Savile Row, still it is easily accessible, both by railway and by the constant service of motor omnibuses which pass the doors; and the claim may be made that it is not merely a habitation, but a comfortable club-house, in which the scientific work of the Society can be pursued under suitable conditions of space, light, and air; while the Fellows will enjoy advantages they have never previously obtained, and which are not excelled, if they are equalled, in any Geographical Society in the world.
